Heavy Blanket
Of Snow Slows
Midwest Traffic

By The Associated Press

A snowstorm moved across the central section of the country Tuesday, slowing traffic in a moist, heavy blanket that ranged up to nine inches in depth.

Up to seven inches of snow in northwestern Arkansas closed many schools. The snowfall in that state reached as far south as Hope, near Texarkana.

Snow covered almost all Oklahoma, with the thickest cover—nine inches—in Gage in the northwestern part of the state.

Texas counted four dead, one by exposure and three in traffic accidents, in a four-day storm that deposited up to a foot of snow in the Panhandle area during the weekend.

While skies began to clear in Oklahoma and Texas, the storm rolled eastward and headed up the Ohio Valley.

A half foot of snow on the runways closed the Joplin, Mo., airport.

Snow fell again in St. Louis, with seven inches already on the ground from two previous storms.

Southern Indiana was pelted by snow, sleet and rain.

The Weather Bureau in Chicago said snow to depth of four inches or more is expected in southeastern and east-central Missouri, southern and east-central Illinois, southern and central Indiana, northern Ohio and western Pennsylvania.

A light fall was in prospect in Kentucky.

The snow stopped in Iowa, where the fall ranged up to 2½ inches in Sioux City.

Thawing aided the massive snow removal project in the East in the slushy aftermath of the storm that dumped up to 40 inches of snow late last week.

The ban on the use of non-sentential private automobiles remained in effect in New York City, but officials lifted the restrictions on commercial vehicles.

Kennedy Asks
Boost To $1.25,
More Coverage

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy Tuesday proposed a three-step increase in the minimum wage from $1 to $1.25 an hour and the extension of coverage to 4.3 million additional workers.

A bill containing Kennedy's proposals was promptly introduced in the House, and hearings were set to begin Feb. 17. Similar speedy action was promised in the Senate.

The lines thus were drawn for a rematch over minimum wage legislation defeated in Congress last year when Kennedy backed substantially the same bill as a senator and as the Democratic nominee for president.

The administration's main proposals, embodied in a bill introduced by Rep. James Roosevelt, D-Calif., call for:

1. An increase in the minimum wage from $1 to $1.15 during the first year, $1.20 during the second year, and $1.25 thereafter for employees now covered by the wage-hour act.

Newly-Covered Workers
2. A minimum of $1 an hour for newly covered workers during the first year, $1.05 the second year, $1.15 the third year, and $1.25 thereafter.

3. Overtime for newly covered workers on the basis of a 44-hour work week the second year, 42 hours the third year and 40 hours thereafter. No overtime would have to be paid the first year.

4. Extension of coverage to employees of service or retail establishments grossing at least $1 million a year, gasoline service stations grossing $250,000 a year, and streetcar or bus lines regardless of their sales volume.

The bill does not propose any change in the law's exemption of employees of motion picture theaters, hotels, motels and restaurants.

The Senate last year passed a bill like the one now being offered, but it failed of passage in the House by an eight-vote margin. The House then went on to pass a greatly curtailed substitute backed by Republicans and Southern Democrats.

Unable To Reach Compromise
All efforts to reach a compromise between the House and Senate versions failed, and the bill died.

If anything, the bill now faces an even tougher fight in the House, where the Republican-Southern Democratic coalition gained in strength during the last elections. One development makes its final prospects brighter, however.

This is the accession of Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., to the chairmanship of the House Labor Committee, replacing former Rep. Graham Barden, D-N.C., who retired from Congress. Powell favors the bill while Barden opposed it.

Castro Militiaman, 16,
Killed Fighting Rebels

HAVANA (AP)—A clash between government forces and insurgents in the Escambray Mountains left a militiaman only 16 years old and several anti-Castro rebels dead, a dispatch from Santa Clara said Tuesday.

The report said the fight took place outside Sancti Spiritus but did not give the date or the exact number of rebel casualties.

Soccer Star Walks Out
On BBC TV "Life" Show

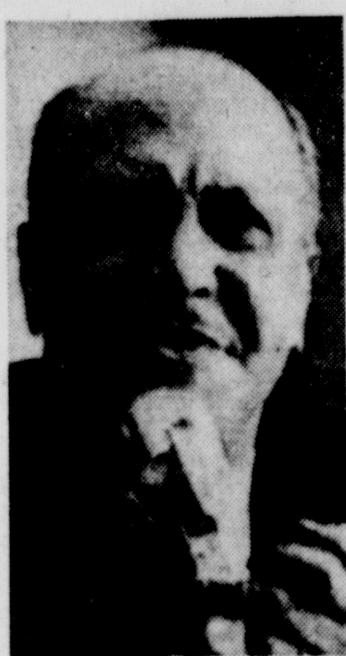

LONDON (AP)—A soccer star who insisted on keeping his private life to himself stopped a British Broadcasting Corp. TV show before it could get started.

Danny Blanchflower, captain of the glamorous Tottenham Hotspur team, refused at the last minute Monday night to take part in the TV program "This Is Your Life."

The BBC had brought two of Blanchflower's cousins Pat Brewis and Maureen Doyle, from the United States—the company didn't have their home towns handy—to help reconstruct the star's life story.

Ben Jonsson, 15, a boy who was Northern Ireland's team mascot in the 1958 world cup games, had come from Sweden.

Blanchflower's parents from Northern Ireland were there along with other relatives and friends

Kennedy Takes Stand Against Preventive War

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy let it be known Tuesday night there has been no change in United States policy against engaging in preventive war.

The President also put out word denying published reports that his administration has concluded that the Soviet Union holds no overall missile advantage over the United States.

Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary, reported Kennedy's views to newsmen after Salinger and other government information men had conferred with the President.

Salinger said his remarks, approved by Kennedy, dealt specifically with:

1. A story in Tuesday's Washington Evening Star saying in part that the new Pentagon high command has "rejected the common Pentagon suggestion that this country should plan only to retaliate in any all-out nuclear war and never strike first."

2. Several news dispatches saying that studies made at the Pentagon by the new administration show that there is no missile gap providing a Soviet advantage over this country.

On the first point, Salinger said: "There has been no change in the position of the United States that this nation does not intend to use its forces in pre-emptive war."

In reply to a question, Salinger said he regards the term preventive war as a synonym for pre-emptive war. He added: "Any story to the contrary is without foundation."

On the second point dealing with a missile gap, Salinger said: "No such study has been completed. No such finding has been made in any such study. The stories therefore are inaccurate."

One reporter told Salinger it was well known by some people at his news conference that the stories to which Salinger was backing exception were based on background briefings given newsmen by government officials. Generally newsmen attending such briefings are permitted to report what officials say but are prohibited from naming the source.

Salinger said he was not going to get into that matter at all.

At one point a newsmen suggested that Salinger seemed to be saying in effect that the reporters who wrote the stories had been wrong—or had interpreted what was said wrong.

Britain Tells Of Fantastic
Spying RingBungalow Center
Of Web, Court Told
In Hearing For 5

LONDON (AP)—A London suburban bungalow was described in court Tuesday as the center of the web of a fantastically equipped spying ring that stole British naval secrets for the Soviet Union.

A high-powered shortwave radio transmitter concealed in a compartment beneath the kitchen floor capable of sending messages to Moscow.

A cigarette lighter built to hold negatives.

Miniaturized documentary films called microdots.

A powerful microscope suitable for reading microdot messages.

More than $8,000 in U. S. currency and travelers checks.

These were among things cited by Atty. Gen. Sir Reginald Manningham-Buller at the preliminary hearing of three men and two women accused of conducting espionage on a sweeping scale behind an elaborate facade of respectability. Two were trusted employees of the Royal Navy. A third may be a Russian.

For two hours Manningham-Buller outlined the government's case in Bow Street Magistrate's Court.

Microdots Easy To Conceal

Speaking of the microdots, by which a document can be reproduced on film to a dot no bigger than the period on a typewriter, the attorney general explained:

"By enlarging the dots again you can see what they contain. One microdot can contain a great deal of writing. They can be sent through the mails by sticking them under postage stamps or by attaching them to an article of clothing."

British agents who made the arrests a month ago then testified before Magistrate K. J. P. Barracough. To protect their effectiveness in future cases, these cloak and dagger men did not give their names. They were identified only by letters in the alphabet.

The preliminary hearing, which will continue Wednesday, will determine whether the defendants should be bound over for trial at London's green-domed Old Bailey.

Five Suspects Listed

The accused are: Gordon A. Lonsdale, 37, a company director, Peter John Kroger, 50, a book-seller, and his wife, Helen, 47, both occupants of the house in suburban Ruislip.

Harry Frederick Houghton, 55, a civil servant.

Miss Ethel Elizabeth Gee, 46, also a civil servant.

They are charged with "conspiring between themselves and with other persons unknown, between June 1960 and January 1961, to commit breaches of Section 1 of the Official Secrets Act," which deals with spying.

The Krogers and Lonsdale carried Canadian passports and speak in North American accents. Canadian authorities said they are not Canadian citizens. The attorney general said Lonsdale "seems to be a Russian."

Soviet Bid To Seat
China In WHO Loses

NEW DELHI, India (UPI)—A Soviet bid to seat Communist China in the United Nations World Health Organization assembly was defeated here Tuesday in a counter-offensive led by the United States.

The Russian attempt was blocked by a vote of 38 to 24. The vote was on an American proposal asking that the assembly not consider any resolution to exclude Nationalist China's delegation to the WHO assembly that began Tuesday.

Sputnik Called Test

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—The Czechoslovak news agency CTK quoted a Soviet scientist Tuesday as saying the new Soviet satellite is a test of all that is necessary for the safe return of an astronaut to earth.

The agency said V. N. Chernikov, director of the I. P. Pavlov Physiological Institute, made this statement in an article in the Prague newspaper Vecerni Praha.

Fines In Vast
Antitrust Case
Total $1,924,500

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Sentencing of electrical equipment manufacturers in one of the nation's biggest federal antitrust cases finished Tuesday. Fines assessed 29 giant companies and 44 of their executives for bid rigging and price fixing totaled $1,924,500.

The final courtroom statement—from Baddia Rashid, chief of the government's antitrust trial section—described the case as a warning to those who might be considering similar practices.

"The purpose of this litigation," said Rashid, "is to make clear that economic freedom in this country by way of competition is no less important and no less an ideal to be followed than political liberty."

Seven executives, all regarded by sentencing Judge J. Cullen Gandy as policymakers in their companies, were given 30-day jail terms, a rarity in antitrust cases.

Twenty-four others received suspended 30-day terms during the two-day sentencing, but they were placed on five-year probation.

General Electric and Westinghouse, the biggest U. S. manufacturers of electrical goods, drew the biggest fines: $437,500 for GE and $382,000 for Westinghouse. Three men from GE and two from Westinghouse were sentenced to jail; 16 GE executives were fined $55,000; 14 Westinghouse executives, $27,000.

Fines against all 29 companies totaled $1,787,000, with $964,500 of it being imposed Tuesday. Fines for the 44 individuals totaled $137,500, with $28,000 imposed Tuesday.

The companies and individuals entered 71 guilty pleas and 90 of nolo contendere — no defense—to fixing prices and rigging bids on equipment that provides electricity for most of the country.

Although 14 of the 20 indictments were handled Tuesday, the sentencing session lasted just over two hours, as contrasted with Monday's day-long session. Defense pleas for leniency that were made for every company and every executive Monday were generally missing Tuesday. Plainly, Judge Gandy, 61, chief U. S. district judge here, had made up his mind from briefs previously submitted.

Most of the companies sentenced Tuesday had been sentenced on other indictments Monday. Most of the pleading was for the 13 executives who appeared before the judge. A 14th was ill, and his case was postponed.

Norwegian Ship Sinks;
All 29 Aboard Saved

NEWHAVEN, England (AP)—The Norwegian motorship Braga sank in the gale-swept English Channel Tuesday, but two ships rescued her crew of 27 and two passengers.

The French vessel Rennes picked up 17 of them and another French boat, the Banoara, saved the other 12.

The Americans and other passengers aboard the Santa Maria should have considered themselves lucky to get a free ride to a revolution, the rebels felt.

Their own objectives always came first, she said. "They could not understand why we turn to their native soil."

Lumumba Release
Would Delay Congo
Peace, U.N. Is Told

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—An emissary of Congolese President Joseph Kasavubu told the U. N. Security Council Tuesday that release of deposed Premier Patrice Lumumba would perpetuate terror and delay a political settlement in the Congo.

Congolese Delegate Evariste Loloiki bitterly opposed Lumumba's release from prison even though the United States is privately offering an over-all Congo peace plan that would include the liberation of all Congolese political prisoners as a final step.

Loliki declared Lumumba was "guilty of murder and oppression."

He asserted it was for the Congolese law and people "to judge Lumumba—not the United Nations."

Loliki said the army under Kasavubu and his chief of staff, Maj. Gen. Joseph Mobutu, was a "true national army"—and criticized Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld for calling it a "faction."

No solution is possible, he concluded, that does not respect the sovereignty of the Congo and take into account the legal authority of the president.

Loliki accused the United Arab Republic of sending arms to Congolese forces backing Lumumba, and attacked other African nations supporting Lumumba.

At 6:19 p.m., the council adjourned its Congo debate, leaving it for members to decide later whether the next meeting should be Friday or Monday.

Loliki and Berard spoke after American and Soviet delegates made clear that their countries were still far apart on what the United Nations should do in the Congo, despite a two-hour conference on the subject.

U. S. Chief Delegate Adlai E. Stevenson told a reporter the conference at Soviet delegation headquarters Monday night made him hopeful but "not at all confident" that there would be eventual Soviet-U. S. agreement on how to forest.

38 Americans, Pawns
In Ship Hijacking, Return

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A look didn't appreciate history was behind the hearts of the men who hijacked and we were fortunate seized a Portuguese cruise ship to be well fed and not mistreated by a young American.

Mrs. Harberson said the passengers made it a rule to stay out of political discussions with the rebels, "but they talked plenty about it to us."

At every opportunity a rebel would collar a passenger who could understand him and pour out a 30-minute harangue about the poverty, suffering and brutality in Spain and Portugal.

One day, she said, she had a long talk with Galvao's second in command, Fernandez Soto Maior. "He said he had married a German and she wanted him to stay home like a 'tame cat' and not become a revolutionary. So he divorced her."

Other passengers who arrived with the Harbersons were calm, but all appeared grateful to return to their native soil.

Housing Post
Nomination
Strikes SnagHearings Delayed
Until JFK Attests
To Negro's Loyalty

WASHINGTON (AP)—A nomination of President Kennedy hit a snag for the first time Tuesday. Sen. A. Willis Robertson, D-Va., held up a Senate hearing on Negro appointee Robert C. Weaver and forced Kennedy to rush a letter to Capitol Hill dealing with Weaver's loyalty.

In the letter, demanded by Robertson as a condition for starting hearings, Kennedy said the normal FBI loyalty report on Weaver had been fully reviewed and evaluated before Weaver was nominated.

After receiving the brief letter, Robertson, chairman of the Senate Banking Committee, had it read into the record and opened hearings on the nominee.

Weaver, if confirmed as administrator of the Housing and Home Finance Agency, would have the highest federal post ever held by a Negro.

His nomination has stirred opposition from some Southerners like Robertson who disagree with Weaver's views favoring racial integration in housing.

Weaver, 53, is vice chairman of the New York City Housing and Redevelopment Board and national board chairman of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Robertson Startles Hearing

But it was the issue of loyalty rather than integration that led Robertson to delay his committee's hearings.

While Weaver sat in the witness chair, Robertson startled the packed hearing room by announcing he would not proceed until he had received a letter from Kennedy evaluating FBI reports on Weaver.

Robertson said he had received "a number of complaints touching on the question of his (Weaver's) loyalty," and had written to Kennedy Jan. 30 asking for an evaluation of the loyalty report.

The chairman then ordered the room cleared and called an executive session of his committee. He said the open hearings would not start until he received an answer from Kennedy.

The dramatic maneuver prompted action from the White House. Within two hours, Robertson had the letter from Kennedy.

"As is customary in nominations of this importance," Kennedy wrote, "a report on Mr. Weaver was submitted to me by the Federal Bureau of Investigation and this report was fully reviewed and evaluated."

Has Confidence In Nominee

"I am most confident that if confirmed, Mr. Weaver will perform an outstanding service for our country as administrator of the Housing and Home Finance Agency. I am pleased to give you my views in this instance and I appreciate your interest."

Weaver had no comment to newsmen on the implication of Robertson's remarks about his loyalty. And he did not allude to them in his opening statement to the committee.

Later, however, Weaver was questioned closely by Sen. William A. Blakely, D-Tex., about alleged associations with Communist-front organizations.

Weaver acknowledged speaking at conferences conducted by the organizations but denied membership in them.

Weaver said, for example, that (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

Laos Troops Set
For Offensive

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI)—A combat unit of about 2,000 veteran royal Laotian troops is preparing for a drive into the strategic plain of Jars where Communist-led rebels are being supplied by a Soviet airlift, military sources said Tuesday.

The offensive will be launched from Sala Phou Khoun, junction of the main Vientiane-Luang Prabang highway and the road leading toward the plain and its complex of airfields. The sources said the forces would include the two columns which drove on Sala Phou Khoun from north and south and recaptured the important junction the Communist Pathet Lao troops.

Only the 12th infantry battalion, which spearheaded the last few miles of the drive, was to be taken out of battle and returned to Vientiane. This unit suffered relatively heavy casualties in the final actions, the sources said. They gave no figures.

Luanda Lives In Fear After Abortive Revolt

AP Staffer Reports 27 Persons Killed

EDITOR'S NOTE — An Associated Press staff writer was in Angola when a short-lived rebellion against the Salazar dictatorship broke out last week. Thwarted by censorship, the reporter flew to his regular base in South Africa to file this dispatch without official interference.

By ERROL FRIEDMANN
JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—Luanda, capital of Portuguese Angola, is a city of fear after last weekend's abortive revolt against Portugal's Salazar regime.

By official count, 27 persons were killed in the uprising that followed closely the seizure of Portugal's luxury liner Santa Maria by Premier Antonio de Oliveira Salazar's foes.

Secret police moved quickly to stamp out the members of revolt in Angola and to keep the news from the outside world.

Cable and telephone communications were almost completely sealed off.

Few news dispatches—and these are mainly reports of government communications—are reaching the world's press from Luanda.

The secret police have imposed almost total censorship. Luanda post office officials, who control the telegraph office, do not conceal their amusement when foreign correspondents present cables for transmission. They know the dispatches will never get out of the post office.

Some dispatches are being smuggled out of Luanda by road and air. Pilots of non-Portuguese airlines flying into Luanda are bringing out hastily pieced-together dispatches to Johannesburg.

My initial dispatches on the uprising during the early hours apparently did not get through and I flew to the Congo to file an eyewitness account of shootings by police in the native quarter of Luanda, in which at least 11 whites and Negroes were killed.

In the hours immediately following the revolt and the shootings in the native quarter, there were no outward signs of panic in Luanda.

Angola radio made no mention of disturbances. Townsfolk continued their normal pursuits, trying hard to conceal their feelings. The secret police was rounding up any prospective troublemakers.

The quarter—million whites, blacks and mulattoes in the city—for years under strict Portuguese colonial rule—were even afraid to talk among themselves about the uprising.

Few citizens in the colony on Africa's west coast appeared interested in visiting the scenes of the weekend shootings or of gathering around the jail where rioters killed seven in an attempt to free prisoners.

Newsman also found difficulty in getting to the shooting scenes.

At the jail they found plainclothes police and militia armed with machine guns. Armored cars patrolled the district.

In the drive leading up to the jail, there were traces of blood. The blood-spattered wooden entrance to the jail remained unwashed.

Odds Against Early Tax Cut, Rayburn Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—Prospects for any early tax reduction were pronounced pretty dismal Tuesday by House Speaker Sam Rayburn, D-Tex.

Rayburn implied after a meeting with President Kennedy that instead of the budget surpluses forecast by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower there may be deficits this year and next.

"Wisdom would not suggest a tax cut," Rayburn told reporters, "unless it would be one that would encourage business to expand."

"With the budget in the shape it's in, I think there is a pretty dismal prospect for reducing taxes unless we are definitely assured that the reduction will be an incentive—and I don't know how we can be positive about that," he added.

Asked if a business-stimulating reduction is under consideration, Rayburn said "Well, it is by me." But he added he did not know whether the administration would agree.

Kennedy told his news conference last Wednesday he did not consider the current business slump serious enough to justify a tax cut at this time.

Rayburn spoke to newsmen after Kennedy's weekly meeting with Democratic congressional leaders at the White House. The leaders were told of a series of presidential messages being prepared for Congress.

Rayburn said Kennedy will submit a budget message which will "try to clear up" some aspects of the outlook presented by Eisenhower's budget.

Eisenhower foresaw a $79 million surplus for the current fiscal year ending June 30, and a $1.5 billion surplus for the next fiscal year.

Another Credit Hearing Slated

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—A bill to strengthen the regulation of retail credit in Maryland bounced around a Senate committee Tuesday, then was held up for another public hearing.

Sponsored by Sen. William S. James, D-Harford, the measure would limit the finance charges which could be legally tacked on to the prices of items bought on the installment plan.

It also would fix interest rates on revolving credit or budget accounts. These are running accounts on which purchases are continually added, fixed monthly payments are made, and a certain percentage in interest is added to the outstanding balance each month.

The Banking, Insurance and Social Security Committee voted to amend James' bill so that the interest on installment purchases would be 12 instead of 10 per cent on the first $1,000 and 10 instead of 8 per cent on any amount over $1,000.

After approving increases in the rates recommended by James in his bill, the committee voted to hold another public hearing on a section covering revolving credit.

Horse Touches Off Auto Crash Fatal To Three

NEWHALL, Calif. (AP)—A wild horse touched off a head-on collision in which three California occupants of a sports car were killed Tuesday.

The horse was struck and killed on Highway 6 by a heavy truck driven by Lloyd I. Bolin, 44, Bishop. The truck jumped the divider after striking the horse and ran into a sports car driven by Ervin H. Peterson, 37, Woodland Hills.

Peterson and his two passengers, Dean T. Goin, 54, Van Nuys, and William H. Cox, 63, North Hollywood, were killed. All were flight test mechanics at Lockheed's Palmdale plant.

Salinger replied that he would not quarrel with that statement.

Just before holding his news conference, Salinger had met at length with the information chiefs of various government agencies.

These included Asst. Secretary of Defense Arthur Sylvester, in charge of Pentagon public relations, and Roger Tubby, assistant secretary for public affairs.

New Integration Troubles Flare In Atlanta, Ga.

By United Press International

New integration troubles flared on both sides of the Mason-Dixon Line Tuesday.

Seventeen Negro students were arrested in Atlanta, Ga., for staging a lunch counter sit-in demonstration, and in New Rochelle, N.Y., the city board of education voted to appeal a federal ruling ordering the Lincoln Elementary School desegregated.

At Oxford, Miss., eight highway patrol plainclothesmen were stationed at the University of Mississippi's administration building when a rumor swept the campus that Negroes would try to enroll in classes.

The Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) announced in New York that demonstrations would be staged in "sympathy" with 13 Negro students sentenced to jail terms in Rock Hill, S.C. for refusing to leave a segregated lunch counter.

Student leader Edward King of Atlanta urged that Rock Hill be made the next battleground for integration.

Couple Says Rees Resembles Man Who Forced Car Off Road

BALTIMORE, Md. (UPI)—Accused mass slayer Melvin D. Rees Jr., on trial for kidnapping and murder, was identified Tuesday as resembling a wild-driving motorist who forced another car off a road the night the Carroll Jackson family vanished.

The testimony came from Keith Waldrop, 29, of Beaver Dam, Va., and his wife, Barbara, who said Rees resembled the man who drove them off the road the night of Jan. 11.

The Waldrops were on the stand in the eighth day of the trial of the jazz musician in the kidnap-slashing of Mrs. Mildred Jackson, 27, of Apple Grove, Va., and her 5-year-old daughter, Susan Ann.

Charges also are outstanding against Rees in Virginia that he killed Mrs. Jackson's husband and the couple's other daughter, Janet, 18 months.

The government has charged the Jackson family was kidnaped and murdered after the family car was forced off a road late at night near the Jackson home in Apple Grove.

Tuesday, both Waldrop and his wife testified that on the night of Jan. 11 they were visiting in Rock Hill, Va., and left for their home about 9:45 p.m.

They said that as they drove between Rock Hill and Montpelier a car drew up very rapidly behind theirs, followed it closely for a distance and then forced them off the road and to a halt.

The witnesses said they sped off as the man in the other car slid across his front seat as though to get out.

When Waldrop was asked if he saw the driver of the car in the had been in good company, for courtroom Tuesday, he replied: the late President Franklin D. "I see a man that resembles the Roosevelt had sent greetings to man, but I do not say he is the conference. In addition, Weaver said, he had been a public official at the time and his participation was cleared by his agency.

Early To Work

BRASILIA, Brazil (AP)—President Janio Quadros, an early riser, showed up for work in the executive palace Tuesday at 6:20 a.m. Messengers and elevator operators weren't there yet. He ordered them to report for work at 6 a.m. every day.

'Star Witness' At Ice Milk Hearing Fails To Testify

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The star witness failed to testify when called upon at Tuesday's ice milk hearing before the House Judiciary Committee.

The witness, a gleaming 5½-foot dispensing machine, was to have provided committee members with a sample of soft ice milk to illustrate a statement by Thomas E. Cox, representing the Maryland Association of Retail Soft Serve and Milk Shake Manufacturers.

Cox couldn't get the machine to dispense anything but a white, goopy liquid.

Later, after the hearing had already adjourned and some of the members left, the machine began to function properly with the assistance of a technician.

The committee is considering legislation to legalize Maryland sale and production of ice milk—a dairy product of lighter butterfat content than ice cream.

The Legislative Council bill would allow sale of ice milk only in cartons of one pint or larger for consumption off the premises of the seller.

Chief objection to the bill was voiced by a group of representatives of retailers who do most of their business on the premises.

C. S. Brinsfield, a representative of the State Department of Health, said the department favored the off-premises restriction because "it is a physical impossibility to do a good job of enforcing the ice milk law" unless it is restricted.

Brinsfield said the department was most concerned with the substitution of ice milk for ice cream.

John R. Mudd, representing Maryland Dairy Queen stores, said "if ice milk is good, healthful and helpful economically, then let's have ice milk but let's not put in the restrictions contained in this bill. Let's go all the way and allow open business on this product."

Howard Thomas, who spoke for 24 Maryland Tastee Freeze stores, urged the committee to allow "the entire industry to compete on an equal basis." He said 95 per cent of the sales of his client and similar establishments are for on-premises consumption.

Testimony at the hearing indicated Maryland is one of only four states which prohibit the sale of ice milk.

26 Recommended For CPA Degrees

BALTIMORE (AP)—Twenty-six candidates who passed a nationwide examination last November were recommended Tuesday to Gov. Tawes for the degree of Certified Public Accountant.

Highest scorer in the group was Maurice D. Ashbury Jr. of Frederick. Tied for second place were Paul D. Kagen of Silver Spring and Otto B. Martinson Jr. of Oxon, Md.

Other candidates who successfully passed the test included Raymond A. Deane Jr. of Wheaton, Md.; Bernard F. Gatti of Silver Spring; Robert A. Gubisch of West Hyattsville; Fritz W. Hintze of Takoma Park; and George E. Moser of Owings Mills.

Also, John W. Powder Jr. of Towson; Orman S. Powell of Silver Spring; Charles T. Saunders Jr. of Temple Hills; Thomas F. Schumacher of Hyattsville; James H. Tracey of Silver Spring; and Edward R. Thomas of Hyattsville.

4 Children Die In Fire

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A fire swept through a two-story wooden frame house in East Los Angeles Monday morning, killing four children.

The Fire Department identified the dead as Glenn Morales, 1; his brother Guy, 4 months, and sisters Beatrice, 4, and Annette, 2½. They were the children of Anna Marie Morales.

New School Aid Bill Introduced In W. Va. House

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Speaker Julius Singleton, D-Monongalia, and Del. W. R. Wilson, D-Marion, Tuesday introduced in the House of Delegates a bill aimed at funneling an additional $5.5 million a year into West Virginia's public school program.

The bill would give county school boards an additional $5 per pupil for supplies and instructional aids and would ensure 180 days of instruction for school children, about two weeks more each year than at present.

The $5 per pupil would only go to those county school boards that had spent a similar amount on pupils the year before.

House Finance Chairman Ivor Boiarsky, D-Kanawha, introduced a bill that would put the state's horse racing tax at the same level it was a year ago.

This would set the parimutuel tax at 5½ per cent instead of the present 5 and raise the state's share of the net income of any tax payer. It would be in the form of a limitation on the income tax proposed by the Barron Administration, which in reality would take an average of about 1.2 per cent of the income.

Other bills introduced included measures to:

—Allow the State Road Commission to re-impose tolls on a bridge to help finance another bridge in the same traffic area, by Del's. Pindexter and Casey, both D-Cabell.

—Make it a misdemeanor with fines of $25 for the first offense and between $100 and $500 for subsequent offenses for failure to obtain from the State Water Commission to pollute streams, by Del. Rollins, D-Taylor.

Woman 'Chutist Killed

LIMA, Peru (AP)—The body of an Argentine woman parachutist was washed ashore at Ancon Monday, the day after she made an exhibition jump at the Pacific beach resort of Santa Rosa. Miss Maria del Rosario Carrizo apparently was pulled under the surface when a strong wind caught her chute after alighting.

May Meet De Gaulle

PARIS (UPI)—Tunisian President Habib Bourguiba may meet with French President Charles de Gaulle in a possible attempt to end the Algerian war, diplomatic sources reported.

Bourguiba's announced intention of visiting Europe this week strengthened the belief that such a meeting was planned.

The cotton boll weevil is of Mexican origin.

Maryland News In Brief

UPPER MARLBORO, Md. (AP)—Residents on rural routes have been asked to get rid of the snow and ice around their mail boxes so that mail carriers can reach them.

The notices have been sent out by Postmaster Edward V. Dorsey. He asked that the mail boxes be made accessible to the four carriers who serve mail on 185 miles of rural free delivery routes out of Upper Marlboro.

Dorsey explained snow was "five feet high or more, and our carriers can't stick their hands through a big snowbank hoping to jab the mailbox."

KENSINGTON, Md. (AP)—Montgomery County authorities Tuesday listed the death last November of James Joseph Henahan, 29, of Kensington as accidental.

Dr. Frank J. Broschart, county coroner, said an extended autopsy showed Henahan suffered many injuries, including injury to the brain, when he was struck by an automobile last Aug. 21.

BALTIMORE (AP)—Dominic J. Carozza, 28, pleaded innocent Tuesday as he went on trial in Criminal Court on a charge of Murder in the fatal stabbing of a Washington man in a fight last October.

Carozza is accused in the death of Alex Gabriel, a steelworker who was stabbed 12 times during a brawl outside a tavern.

James A. Morales, 44, president of Local 16 of the Iron Workers Union, was acquitted last Friday on a charge of assault to murder. He was accused of wounding another steelworker during the course of the fight.

HAGERSTOWN (AP)—The Episcopal Diocese of Maryland Tuesday adopted a $579,475.51 operating budget for this year, an increase of $42,000 above 1960.

Spokesmen said the increase would be marked for missionary work within the diocese, with 34 per cent of the overall budget to help finance missions of the National Church.

The budget was approved by some 300 clergy and lay delegates to the 177th annual convention of the diocese, representing 150 member churches.

The Rt. Rev. Noble C. Powell, bishop of Maryland, proposed the diocese establish a home for aged men. He suggested a $1,750,000 bequest from Frank B. Beasman could be used for the home. The diocese operates homes for elderly women.

Avalanche News Plane Crashes, Killing Two

GRENOBLE, France (AP)—A private plane under charter for news coverage of Alpine avalanches that have taken 36 lives crashed into a mountain peak near Alpe d'Huez Monday, killing two newsmen and seriously injuring the pilot.

The dead were Pierre Nicoli, sound technician for a radio station, and Francis Lauga, radio news reporter.

Astoria, Ore., was founded in 1811 by John Astor as a fur-trading station.

5 Charged With Murder In Double Knife Slaying

BALTIMORE (AP)—Five men were charged with murder Tuesday in a double knife slaying early Sunday on a South Baltimore street corner.

Each of the accused was charged twice, once in the death of William D. McCall, 19, and once in the slaying of Franklin C. Oblosser, 36, both of Baltimore.

Charged were David A. Hause, 22, unemployed; Fariol W. Haynie, 21, handyman; Ronald A. Borden-ski, 29, longshoreman; Nelson F. Laird, 28, barber; and Jarry P.

Pearre, 20, unemployed. All are from Baltimore.

Witnesses to the double slaying said that the victims were walking home from a tavern with Mrs. Oblosser and Robert L. Mears, 37, when they were attacked by five men who jumped out of a passing automobile.

In a fight that followed, Oblosser and McCall suffered numerous back and chest injuries. Mears later was treated for a gashed nose.

Mrs. Kinsley Named State Officer

Final plans for the observance of National Beauty Salon Week were discussed at the meeting of the Allegany Unit, Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association, Monday evening at Central YMCA. The week will be observed February 12 through the 18th.

The local observance will begin with a dance, to be held Friday evening at the Ali Ghan Country Club. Dancing will be to music by Peck Mills, beginning at 10 p.m. The program will include a hair fashion show of different styles and featuring the spring release of the "honey hug," and a Parade of States. The highlight of the evening will be crowning of the National Beauty Salon Week Queen, who will be chosen by ballot. John Taylor, show chairman, will officiate at the coronation at 11 p.m. There also will be awarding of prizes.

Also in observance of the week, a group of members will visit the County Infirmary at 10:30 a.m. Monday.

Mrs. Valetta Kinsley conducted the special meeting Monday evening, at which time reports were given. Mrs. Kinsley, Mrs. Marian Ruehl and Mrs. Virginia Nave reported on attending the state meeting in Baltimore last month. At that time Mrs. Kinsley was installed as state sergeant of arms. Mrs. Nave continues her chairmanship of the state Beauty Salon Week. Mrs. Kinsley also styled two heads in the new trend.

Other reports included one by John Taylor on the week observance; Mrs. Dorothy Dyer, dance chairman; Mrs. Kinsley, publicity; Mrs. Marian Ruehl, liaison representative; Mrs. Fay Orndorff, membership; Mrs. Nave, state meeting; and Mrs. Hazel Deffenbaugh, styles director. Several of the latest trends in hair styles also were presented.

World Day Services Scheduled

The 75th anniversary of the World Day of Prayer will be observed February 17 in the Cumberland area with services in 11 special churches.

Central Methodist Church, George Street, will have a service from noon until 1 o'clock, planned by Mrs. Chester Huestead. St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Washington Street, 2 until 3 p.m. with Mrs. Calvin S. Keiter in charge.

Zion Methodist Church, Bedford Road, at 7:30 p.m., with Mrs. Robert Mertens leader. St. Matthew's United Church of Christ, Bowling Green, at 7:30 with Mrs. Allen M. Deffenbaugh leader.

Evangelical United Brethren Church, Ridgeley, at 7:30 with Mrs. Evelyn Baker leader. Living Stone Church of the Brethren, Second and Cedar Streets, at 7:30, with Mrs. Connel T. Chaney leader.

Calvary Evangelical United Brethren Church, Mary Street, at 7:30, with Mrs. Harold McClay Sr., in charge. Park Place Methodist Church, LaVale, at 7:30 with Mrs. Frank Byer leader.

Ellerslie Methodist Church at 7:30 with Mrs. Hazel Griffey in charge.

A children's service will be held at Centre Street Methodist Church from 4 until 5, with children from the junior department taking part. Adult leaders will be Mrs. Robert Spriggs and Mrs. Hubert Radcliffe.

Davis Memorial Methodist Church will hold its service February 19 at 7 p.m. More than 30 area churches will participate in the service, on the theme, "Forward Through the Ages."

Among those to be helped through the offerings will be the churches in Alaska, the migrant ministry, the Indian Americans and the literature program in Africa.

AWARD WINNER — Miss Rosemary (Diane) Rung, daughter of George Rung, Frostburg, was the Catholic Girls Central High School winner in the Homemaker of Tomorrow contest, conducted by General Mills for high school seniors. Miss Rung is president of the library club at Girls Central; active in the Catholic Students Mission Crusade, a member of the Glee Club and hopes to specialize in science and English at college. The state winner will be announced in March. A $1,500 scholarship is offered the state winner, and $500 for second.

Marcella Adams Honor Guest At Shower

Mrs. James Moreland, Miss Joann Zembower and Mrs. Harry Gilpin entertained with a miscellaneous shower and pre-nuptial party in compliment to Miss Marcella Adams, fiancée of Wilbur Martin Hardinger Jr.

The party was held at the home of the bride-elect's aunt, Mrs. Meredith Shryock, 22 Somerville Avenue. A pink and white color scheme was carried out in the decorations and repeated in the shower umbrella, which concealed the gifts. The pink and white cake was inscribed "Congratulations Marcella and Wilbur."

The marriage of Miss Adams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Marshall Adams, 314 Grand Avenue, to Mr. Hardinger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur M. Hardinger, Bedford Road, will be solemnized Saturday evening in Century Methodist Church at 7:30 p. m., with Rev. Kyle Sawyers officiating.

A wedding reception will be held in the church social hall, following the ceremony. Relatives and friends are invited to attend.

During the evening, games were played and prizes were won by Miss Glenda Hardinger, Mrs. Phyllis Zembower, Mrs. Ronald Chaney, Miss Janet Ellsworth and Mrs. Gary Butts. Others present were Mrs. Mary Drew, Miss Pauline Woods, Miss Lelia Ray, Mrs. Paul Apple, Mrs. Edward Crews, Miss Judith Shryock, Miss Doris Day, Mrs. Adams, Mrs. Hardinger, Mrs. Jane Shipway, Mrs. Louis Metz, Mrs. George Gray, Miss Nancy Huff, Miss Brenda Frantz, Miss Patricia Phillips, Miss Judy Bosley, Mrs. Madelyn Hampson, and Miss Marcella Adams.

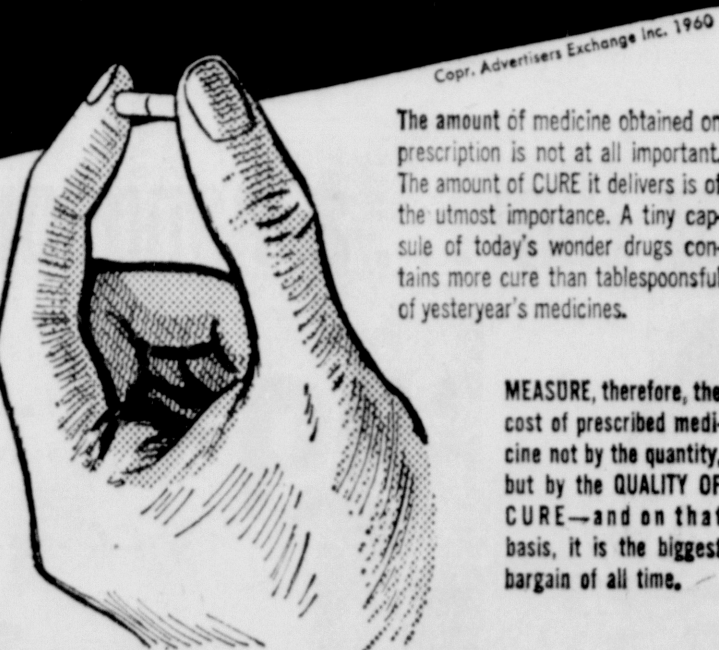

The meeting of Hadassah, scheduled for today, has been postponed until February 15.

Mrs. Mae Kreger assumed her duties as president at a meeting held recently. Serving with her are Mrs. Betty Calhoun, secretary, and Mrs. Thelma Fatkin, treasurer.

Receive Pins

Gymkhana To Be Held In Spring

Discussions of trail rides and having a "Gymkhana" were held at the meeting of the Allegany Saddle Club, held Monday evening in the Baltimore Pike fire hall. John R. Earsom presided.

It was decided to have a "Gymkhana" in the spring. The committees will be appointed at the meeting next month. Lee Welsh led a discussion on trail rides and they will be resumed when the weather permits. Routine business was transacted and three new members were accepted. They are Lee Duval Sr., Lee Duval Jr., and Rebecca Knieriem.

Junior members of the club were asked to have charge of serving refreshments at the next meeting, which will be March 6 in the fire hall. Donna Kalbaugh was named chairman of arrangements.

A social hour followed the meeting and Mrs. Jones Smoak served refreshments.

Others attending were Mrs. Earsom, Mr. Smoak, Richard Aaron, Mrs. Ann Matlick, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Davis, Earl Drake, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Easton, Ben Frantz, Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Evans, Mrs. Jean Moore, Carol Palumbo, Rebecca Knieriem, Michael Reinhart, Margaret Paddelford, James Paddelford, Lee Duval Jr., Frank Winner, Rita Warner, Betsy Weisman, Donna Kalbaugh, Mark Evans, Carol George and a visitor, Kathy Black.

Youth Program To Be Discussed

The Women's Missionary Society of Grace Baptist Church and all its auxiliaries will have a program by Mr. and Mrs. Peter W. Smith, at the meeting tomorrow evening at the church.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith, who serve as key contact for International Students Incorporated of Washington, will give an illustrated talk on their experiences in entertaining as guests in their home over 50 men and women from many lands. They also will show color slides to illustrate their talk and display many of their souvenirs.

A short business session will be conducted by Mrs. James Kirkpatrick. Mrs. George Dignan will lead the devotionals. Mrs. W. Randolph Keefe is hostess for the evening.

An invitation has been extended to the board of deacons of the church and all other members who wish to attend the program.

The meeting of Hadassah, scheduled for today, has been postponed until February 15.

Short Gap firemen and auxiliary will hold a roast beef supper Saturday from 4:30 until 7:30 at the fire hall.

Bonn Takes Peacemaker Role In "War" Of Trade

By JOHN A. CALCOTT
BONN, Germany (UPI) — West Germany has stepped into the role of peacemaker in Western Europe's "war" of trade.

Authoritative sources disclosed the Adenauer government has prepared a 10-page report aimed at ending the economic squabbling between Europe's so-called "inner six" and "outer seven."

These sources emphasized that although the report cannot be considered an official German proposal it was intentionally prepared for international consideration.

Reliable reports said Chancellor Konrad Adenauer may discuss the proposal when he visits French President Charles de Gaulle next Thursday.

The document proposes a "European customs union" as a superstructure that would be above the two existing blocs. Sources said the proposed new entity is in no way aimed at replacing the "inner six" European Economic Community or the "outer seven" European Free Trade Area — known as the EEC and EFTA, respectively.

European tariffs will have to be kept as low as possible under the projected plan to ease the balance of payments difficulties of Canada and the United States, informants said.

A solution to the European trade discord is vital because problems are gaining in urgency from one day to the next, according to one German economic authority.

According to the report, the union would serve primarily to facilitate European economic integration. But it also would strengthen relations between the Atlantic industrial countries — the United States and Canada — and would "grant facilities of trade policy" to development countries.

The German plans are based on the following five precepts:

—The solution must be in conformity with the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT). Thus, it can be only a customs union, a free trade area, or a combination of both.

—European integration will be acceptable to the rest of the world only if Europe continues to pursue a liberal trade policy toward other areas.

—It is imperative that European tariffs be held down to rock bottom.

—European and non-European development countries must be assisted through "visible and marked" measures of trade policy.

—The European economic community must not be harmed in its existence and its development.

The report stressed that the proposed union "should not be of a political nature" and added:

"In principle the form of a customs union having a common external tariff should be chosen. The external tariff of EEC, reduced by 20 per cent, lends itself for this purpose. Such a tariff would be the approximate average of the present European customs duties."

NAFEC Searches For Answer To Jet Age Traffic Jam

Editor's Note — Jetliners now hurdle the country at nearly the speed of sound. Yet the ground control methods that guide them were designed 25 years ago when the fastest commercial craft droned along at 145 miles per hour. Here's what's being done to get electronic air safety off the ground.

By ANDREW MEISELS
ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Take a horse and buggy on a thoroughway?

You wouldn't think of it. Yet the United States is flying into the jet age with airplane ground control methods devised 25 years ago when the fastest airliner—the DC3 — buzzed along at 145 m.p.h.

Now jets fly near the speed of sound. Last year a plane landed or took off from the National Airport at Washington, D.C., every 70 seconds.

The speed, the traffic jam in the clouds, have cut dangerously into the airways' margin of safety. The result: the collision over Grand Canyon between two airliners that took 128 lives, another over New York last month that killed a record total of 134.

The air age is like a sprinter that is moving so fast it has run right out of its pants. What's being done?

The answer is being worked out of a laboratory located near this ocean resort. The laboratory is the National Aviation Facilities Experimental Center proving ground of the Federal Aviation Agency's Bureau of Research and Development.

Its job: modernize the nation's airways so that traveling by air will be safer, faster and more comfortable.

The center's answer: "Data Processing Central," a means of bringing automation to the field of air traffic control.

Through the use of complex computers that can collect information, calculate and even communicate with each other, NAFEC researchers hope to replace much of the human element with machines in an effort to ease the traffic jam.

Capt. Alden C. Packard (USNH), deputy director of the Bureau of Research and Development, notes that the system now in use was developed 25 years ago.

There are at present nearly 100,000 planes in use in the United States, from private small planes to huge jet airliners.

Yet the rules under which these planes fly are basically the same as they were in 1935.

A traffic controller on the ground charts the course of a plane in longhand on a flight strip which notes the time of take-off, the route to be taken, the estimated time of arrival and other data.

This data is radioed from the airport of origin to the airport of destination, where the information is duplicated on another flight strip. If the pilot wishes to change course or to land, he must ask permission.

The controller then consults dozens of flight strips to see what planes are in the air and radios his answer back to the pilot.

Data Processing Central would handle most of this job automatically—leaving the making of decisions in human hands.

Taken out of human hands, however, would be the minute clerical work which takes time, slows and leaves the ever-present danger of human error.

Computers would print the flight strips. They would calculate the times at which different planes are expected to be in various areas, and they would actually communicate with each other—transmitting information to other computers at other fields.

If present development work at NAFEC proves successful, computers would be able to spot potential conflicts between aircraft as much as a half hour ahead of time.

Noting this, the controller would push a button, asking the computer to show him on a scope the positions of the two planes and the point of conflict. Then he would feed trial solutions into the machine until he got one that would clear the planes.

The widespread use of Data Processing Central would also eliminate the need for stacks of planes waiting to land.

Length Of Work Week Drops To Postwar Low

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The workers in the metals, machinery length of the average factory and auto industries also were part work week fell to a post-war low of a worsening job picture. January figures showed that 1.3 million workers were unemployed for more than 13 weeks and half of this number were without jobs for more than six months, he said.

He said this represented an "abnormal decline" of 18 minutes from the December figure of 38.8 hours and indicated the "gravity" of the business slump.

The work week is considered a key indicator of the health of the economy. It fell to 38.7 hours during the 1958 recession, the lowest previous level since the end of World War II.

A figure below 40 reflects widespread cutbacks in overtime and shorter hours for millions of workers.

Goldberg said the dip was one of four disturbing trends disclosed by January employment figures flowing into his department.

Michigan pioneered in the development of roadside picnic sites.

Falcon wagons never get their fill! With loadspace over seven feet long—the longest in the field—Falcon wagons make room for anything from a load of do-it-yourself lumber to a month's vacation gear. What's more there's room for six adults. And all seats are foam-padded for soft, soft, sitting... at no extra cost!

A-A-H-H-H-H THAT EASY-TO-OPEN FALCON TAILGATE!

Just like the big luxury wagons, Falcon's rear window rolls right down into the tailgate. You can load right through the window without even opening the tailgate. Or swing down the tailgate for extra loadspace and a handy loading platform. What a joy compared to other compact wagons that actually make you lift up or swing out the whole rear end. Once you open a Falcon wagon... you'll want to close the deal!

A-A-H-H-H-H THAT LOW, LOW FALCON PRICE!

For all their big-wagon room, comfort and convenience, Falcon wagons are priced as much as $508* less than other compact wagons. And Falcon wagons are Falcons to the last penny: up to 30 miles on a gallon, 4,000 miles between oil changes, no more waxing ever. See and try the new Falcon wagons for yourself. See what makes Falcon America's best-selling compact car—by far!

Woman To Woman

By PATRICIA McCORMACK
NEW YORK (UPI) — If your family is average, don't count on health insurance policies immunizing the purse against all medical expenses.

Many families with such expectations wind up with pains in the budget, claim medical economists at the Health Insurance Institute in New York.

The statisticians about things medical have run through calculations showing that the average family ought to set aside 3 to 5 per cent of one year's income for medical emergencies.

A family with an income of $8,000, for example, should have medical emergency resources of $240 to $400 in the bank.

Objectives and use of the emergency fund varies with families. A family with young children normally might budget $60 for dental visits — not now covered by the average family's insurance policies.

But what happens if junior must have his teeth straightened — and the bill gets astronomical? "Such things happen in average families," the institute reported. "And right now the only safe way is to have an adequate emergency fund."

The institute recommends that each family about once a year work out a blueprint showing expected health expenditures.

The basic recommendation of the institute's formula is that families:

- Budget for the foreseeable costs of health.
- Have insurance for the big bills, or an accumulation of bills, and against the hazard of loss of income due to disability.
- Have a medical emergency fund to cover extra expenses.

How much should be set aside in the health budget? The answer to this question depends on the type and amount of health care a family normally buys, and how much it usually pays.

In general, the institute reported families should be sure that their budgets cover the following:

- The regular and predictable costs of physicians services and, where used, the services of other professional practitioners.
- The additional costs connected with maternity which insurance does not cover.
- Eye tests and glasses, regular check-ups, annual physicals, and predictable dental costs.
- Non-prescribed drugs such as patent medicines, analgesics and ointment, vitamins and mineral tablets, and other items that fill the family medicine chest — including thermometers and vaporizers.
- Health insurance premiums.

You begin the balance sheet by checking your present coverage. This means getting together the policies and certificates now covering each member of the family.

"Check the benefits provided and any exclusions," the institute said. "Also, check the usual medical and hospital charges in the community and compare these against the benefits available."

Artist Jailed For Attempted Bridge Theft

SUNDERLAND, England (AP) — Judge Arthur Boyle frowned darkly at James Teasdale in court Monday night.

"It is monstrous impertinence to try to steal a bridge," the judge declared.

Teasdale, 32, a commercial artist, went to jail for nine months.

He was found guilty of cutting through two steel girders of a footbridge owned by Sunderland Town Council as the first step toward removing the entire structure.

Prosecutor R. A. Percy, in a tone of shocked admiration, told the jury: "There are certain difficulties involved in stealing a bridge. You can steal a cat or a dog or a pearl necklace and quite easily carry them away."

"But a bridge is heavy, long, and attached to stonework and girders so that you have something unusual to consider here. Teasdale was cheeky enough to think that if he demolished the bridge openly and blatantly he would get away with it."

The court was told it will cost $1,960 to restore the bridge to normal after Teasdale's work on the girders with an acetylene burner.

Teasdale testified he honestly thought he had received permission from the borough engineer to remove the bridge.

He didn't say why he wanted it, and the judge didn't care.

Assigns Construction

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Navy has assigned construction of five additional Polaris missile-firing machines to three companies as part of President Kennedy's defense speed up plan for the fiscal year beginning July 1. Electric Boat Division of General Dynamics Corp. will make two subs, Newport News Shipbuilding and Drydock Co. will make two, and Mare Island Naval Shipyard will construct one.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. (UPI) — Atlantic Refining Co. has boosted prices on retail deliveries of No. 2 home heating oil by 1/2 cent a gallon in Pennsylvania and Delaware. Prices to wholesalers were increased 4-10 of a cent. Standard Oil Co. of Indiana has increased wholesale prices of fuel oils in Chicago, northern Illinois and Lake County, Ind. by an average of 1/2 cent a gallon.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Shipments of 442 reporting mills were 0.7 per cent below production in the week ended Jan. 28, while new orders were 6.0 per cent above output, the National Lumber Manufacturers Association reported. Year-to-date shipments were 2.7 per cent below and new orders 2.4 per cent above production, the association said.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Radio Corp. of America has announced plans to add 10,000 square feet of space to its Natick, Mass. industrial center as a result of an upsurge of orders for industrial computers and companion electronic equipment.

ENKA, N.C. (UPI) — American Enka Corp. announced the establishment of a product division-type organization, representing a basic change in its corporate structure, designed to further improve its operations. There will be three separate operating divisions for nylon, rayon and wire and cable products, each headed by a general manager reporting directly to the president, Philip B. Stull.

NORTH CANAAN, Conn. (UPI) — The Colgate-Palmolive Co. has purchased the Williams Division of Unexcelled Chemical Corp. for $3 million, it was announced Monday. Colgate said no management changes are planned for the facility, which employs 100 persons. The local plant makes "wash 'n Dri," a compact paper product for waterless washing.

NEW YORK (UPI) — The ratio of the nation's paper production to mill capacity for the week ending Jan. 28 was 89.7 per cent, compared with 83.9 per cent, revised, last week and 96.3 per cent in the corresponding 1960 period, the American Paper and Pulp Association reported. Paperboard production for the period was 90 per cent, unchanged from the preceding week and down from 97 per cent last year.

SOUTHBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI) — American Optical Co. announced it has entered into a contract with William Getz Corp. of Chicago for the sale of its wholly-owned subsidiary, Hanau Engineering Co., Inc. of Buffalo. No changes in production or sales are contemplated as a result of the transfer of ownership.

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — North Star Oil Co. has announced plans to go into an exploration program for the first time since its reorganization a little over a year ago and will establish an office in Midland, Texas, under the direction of Robert McLelland, formerly with Humble Oil Co. The company will develop semi-proven production on properties yet to be selected and will drill five prospects.

Aluminum Industry Plans Sales Drive

NEW YORK (UPI) — The aluminum industry is preparing to step up its marketing drive for 1961 in order to at least regain the overall 5 per cent loss in volume suffered in 1960 from the previous year.

While sales drives will be aimed at metalworking industries in general, particular emphasis will be placed on building products and transportation, according to American Metal Market, authoritative metals daily.

These two are the biggest consuming markets at present. About 27 per cent of current aluminum consumption goes into building products and another 14 per cent goes into transportation fields, from automobiles to airplanes.

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The critical phase of the current business adjustment is approaching, the Chase Manhattan Bank of New York City said Monday.

If it is to prove moderate, as most observers believe, a leveling in the production curve should appear in the next few months, according to the bank, second largest in the nation.

Saying that a review of recent trends shows prospects appearing favorable for such a leveling off, Chase Manhattan notes:

The main impact of the inventory adjustment has been absorbed. The decline in business expenditures for new plant and equipment could prove moderate.

In housing, trends point to a leveling off in recent months.

Automobile sales were strong in the fourth quarter.

"When prospects in these areas of adjustment are added up," the bank said, "the total for the current quarter comes very close to that for the fourth quarter of 1960. This is significant since these areas account for more than one-sixth of gross national product."

"Meantime, the other five-sixths of the economy is moving ahead. Government purchases of goods and services are increasing. Consumer expenditures for nondurable goods and services could be moderately higher in the first quarter. Exports have held up well.

"All in all, it would appear that business activity could level off in the next few months."

"Then, added the bank, bringing about a renewed advance would call for continued efforts to work through inventory adjustment, restoration of incentives for business capital investment, and promotion of an increase in consumer expenditures for durable goods."

The brokerage firm, Shearson, Hamill & Co., says it should be remembered that the stock market advance has been under way for three months and that in recent trading speculative activity has shown some indication of overexuberance.

Railroaders Seek Food Information

A committee representing B&O a report listing the number of Federated Shop Crafts 7 met with the Allegheny County Board of Commissioners yesterday to ascertain if any action is contemplated for resumption of the surplus food distribution program.

Ernest W. Valentine, Herbert L. Nesbitt and Vincent Firlie, the Federated Shop Crafts representatives, told the commissioners that there are many railroad workers as well as other persons who are unemployed and who have exhausted their unemployment compensation benefits.

Valentine said he would obtain

Three Convicted In Pigeon Theft

Three Maryland Avenue youths were found guilty Monday of being delinquent minors in the theft of pigeons from the lofts of three residents in South Cumberland.

Juvenile Court Magistrate Paul W. Barnett placed all three youths on probation and ordered them to make restitution for the pigeons that were not recovered by police.

City police were called into the case when Carl J. Fisher, 41 Humbird Street, caught a 16-year-old youth attempting to steal several pigeons on January 30.

When questioned by police, the youth implicated two other boys, ages 14 and 15. All three admitted taking pigeons to "stock their own loft."

Rev. Chastain Will Attend Conference

Rev. Louis P. Chastain, minister of visitation at Centre Street Methodist Church, will attend the three-day Christian Leadership Conference in Washington, D. C. this week.

The conference will open today and will conclude Friday. It is being sponsored jointly by the International Council for Christian Leadership and the International Christian Leadership in the United States.

The 17th annual conference will be held at the Mayflower Hotel and will feature a keynote address by Congressman Walter Judd from Minnesota.

Several study sessions and schools of prayer will be conducted during the conference by Dr. Norman Grubb, secretary of the World Evangelization Crusade.

Resident Objects To Garage Plan

A letter received from C. S. Catherman Jr., 27 Prospect Square, yesterday by the Allegheny County Board of Commissioners outlined his objections to the proposed garage and driveway to the County Library annex on Washington Street.

Catherman stated that the plan would "destroy" Prospect Square. The square is the oldest public park in Cumberland, he pointed out, and the annex is located on one of four lots set aside in 1784 by Thomas Beall of Samuel.

Commissioner John T. Mason said there was a building in the rear of the annex some years ago and the square will not be damaged by the program.

Lions Club To Meet

LaVern Hahn, county music supervisor, and the Allegheny High School woodwind ensemble will present the program at the meeting of the Cumberland Lions Club today at 12:15 p. m. in the Community Room at YMCA.

Youth Jailed In Wire Theft

A 16-year-old South Cumberland boy yesterday was ordered to the Maryland Training School for Boys after he was found guilty of being a delinquent minor in the theft of copper from the B&O Railroad.

The youth was charged in the theft of $95 worth of copper from the railroad and was ordered committed to the training school by Magistrate Paul W. Barnett.

Frank H. Gross, 25 of 21 Offutt Street, also was arrested in connection with the theft and was sentenced to a year in the Maryland House of Correction Saturday by Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt.

Lt. Steve H. Wandless and Officer Frank D. Martin of the B&O Police Department made the arrest in the case.

They testified at both hearings that between $200 and $300 worth of copper is being stolen from the railroad weekly, and that it is the worst crime wave in years.

Three Injured At Luke Mill

A youth was hospitalized and two others sustained minor injuries in a freak accident yesterday at the Luke plant of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company.

Admitted to Potomac Valley Hospital in Keyser for observation was Russell Ulery, of Points, W. Va., who suffered an injury to his right leg and a laceration of his right forefinger.

A spokesman for the company said Ulery, his father, Howard Ulery, and Benjamin Alkire, also of Points, were unloading wood in the company's yard when the truck on which they were working slipped down a loading ramp.

The vehicle went off the side on the ramp. The two men were able to jump off before the truck overturned, however the youth was unable to get off.

Howard Ulery suffered a fractured left wrist and was treated and released from the Keyser hospital.

County Board Favors Frostburg University Plan

The Allegheny County Board of Commissioners yesterday adopted a resolution supporting the proposed unification of Frostburg State Teachers College and the University of Maryland.

The commissioners individually have volunteered their support for the program and are listed on the committee of business, professional, labor and civic leaders who are backing the proposal.

Couple Arrested On Whisky Charges

A Romney, W. Va. man and his wife were arrested Monday afternoon by West Virginia State Police for illegal sale and possession of whisky.

Authorities said James Reel was charged with the sale of whisky, while his wife was charged with possession.

State Police said during a raid on the Reel home a large amount of whisky, bearing Maryland State tax stamps, was found.

They will be given preliminary hearings today at 10 a.m. before Justice of the Peace A. L. Russell.

Baltimore Pike Boy Wins 4-H Award

An Allegheny County 4-H youth was an award winner in the Egg division of the 29th Maryland Poultry Products Show held in Glen Burnie January 31 to February 4.

David Simpson, Baltimore Pike, received a ribbon and cash award for placing second in the 4-H division of the egg show, and also tied for 15th place. Forty-five dozen eggs were entered and Simpson's eggs were graded 99.75 per cent to win second place.

Gregory Crouch of Corriganville entered two dozen eggs in the competition but did not place in the top positions.

4-H Tractor Meeting Set

A dinner meeting and workshop for 4-H Club tractor project leaders will be held this evening. The dinner is scheduled for 6:15 p.m. at Nave's Dining Room to be followed by the workshop at 7:30 p.m. at Light & Decker Company Storeroom, North Centre Street.

The workshop is being held to train leaders preparing to conduct a 4-H tractor maintenance school in March and April, according to James B. Arnold, assistant county agent.

A program will be conducted by W. Sherard Wilson, state 4-H Club agent; Gary Gienger, extension service agriculture engineer, and C. W. Hess, lubrication engineer for the American Oil Company.

Compensation Appeal Filed

An appeal was filed Monday in Allegheny County Circuit Court by Feldstein Iron and Metal Company and the State Accident Fund, Baltimore, from an award made by Workmen's Compensation Commission January 24 for Luther Warnick, Mt. Savage.

The appeal states that the decision of the commission is contrary to and against the weight of evidence produced by the employer and insurer at the hearing and that evidence produced by claimant was insufficient.

Edgar A. Smith and W. Theodore Hayes are attorneys for Feldstein and the State Accident Fund and Simon F. Reilly is Warnick's attorney.

Gephart PTA Plans Dinner

The Parent-Teachers Association of Gephart School will hold a family fellowship dinner Wednesday at 6:15 p.m. in the Fellowship Hall of St. Luke's Lutheran Church.

Following the dinner, group singing will be featured. The program also will include a variety show by a dance group from Frostburg State Teachers College under the direction of Betsy Hosack.

Also to be presented will be body-building program that will feature weightlifting performances by Fort Hill boys under direction of Paul Flick, and a tumbling act by Allegheny High School students under direction of Chester Payne.

Swimming Class Scheduled At 'Y'

Central YMCA will hold its second swimming class for boys and girls between the ages of five to eight years, beginning today.

The class will be limited to 20 candidates on a first-come, first-served basis, with YMCA spokesmen stating a number of children already have been registered.

Swimming instruction will be given from 4 to 5 p. m. on Wednesdays and Thursdays, with the course scheduled to be completed on March 2. Two qualified instructors will be in charge of the classes.

A great deal of interest was shown in the first swimming class for children last month.

Seeks Beer License

James R. Luzier has applied for a Class "D" beer license in premises at Cresaptown. A hearing will be conducted on the application by the Allegheny County Board of Alcoholic Beverages License Commissioners.

Rowan Praises County Snow Removal Work

John J. Rowan, president of the Allegheny County Board of Commissioners, yesterday praised the work of the County Roads Department workers in snow removal last week when up to 12 inches fell on county roadways.

Rowan said that all county roads were cleared for two-way traffic within 20 hours of the snowstorm. The cost during January for snow removal was $19,984.77, Rowan reported, with $14,078.50 for labor, $821.44 for materials such as cinders and salt, and $4,984.71 for equipment.

Most of the latter item was for repairs and new parts for equipment which broke down.

Judge Withholds Legal Ruling In Garrett Cases

Arguments on motions for a new trial or judgments notwithstanding the verdict of a jury which awarded over $45,000 in the first two damage cases filed as a result of the Loch Lynn school bus-train accident were heard Monday afternoon in Garrett County Circuit Court.

However Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley did not hand down a ruling at the conclusion of the arguments.

On November 3 a jury awarded Sandra Jean Patton $25,000 and Mary Jane Lee $22,500 plus an additional $700 for their medical expenses.

They were two of 11 children injured September 10, 1959 when the B&O's eastbound Diplomat hit the school bus at the Loch Lynn crossing.

A man-eating tiger is usually past its prime and has worn and defective teeth.

Rowan also praised the sheriff's office for having residents along county roads remove their cars so that plows could clear the snow. The county would be willing to plow Franklin Street from the county garage to Henderson Boulevard if the city would arrange to have cars parked only on one side of that street, Rowan said. The plows would be used as they left the county garage for work on various county roads, Rowan pointed out.

A report on the snow removal conference with the State Roads Commission in Baltimore was also given by Rowan. He said that the Garrett County Board of Commissioners and State Senator Bernard I. Gonder of that county attended the meeting. Garrett County reported that snow removal has cost the county $191,000 so far this year.

Rowan said there was some "amazement" expressed by officials of other counties and SRC officials when he reported that the county roads had been cleared within 20 hours after the snowstorm last Friday.

An offer was made by Rowan to have officials of the various counties come here to see how the program is conducted in Allegheny County.

A meeting of district SRC engineers will be held in Baltimore on Thursday at which the recommendations and suggestions made at the first session will be analyzed and a program of coordination between the SRC and counties can be determined, Rowan said.

5 Men Burned At New Gas Well

CLAY, W. Va. (UPI) — Five men suffered painful, but apparently non-critical burns, when gas seeping from a newly-drilled well ignited at nearby Glen.

Four of the men were hospitalized at Charleston for treatment of first and second degree burns.

The men had struck a gas pocket at a depth of about 1,800 feet and as they were withdrawing equipment from the well, a spark ignited escaping gas. The drilling equipment was badly damaged by the fire.

150 More Laid Off

RAVENSWOOD, W. Va. (UPI) — Some 150 more men will be laid off at the big Kaiser aluminum plant near here Saturday midnight when an aluminum producing potline is shut down. Company officials said a decline in the aluminum market caused the setback.

17 Major Oil Firms Exploring In W. Virginia

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI) — Seventeen major oil firms and individuals are doing exploratory work in West Virginia and nearby states, the Charleston Daily Mail said Tuesday.

The paper said this work had been developing for more than a year. It quoted a Charleston gas and oil consultant that it would "start going strong in 1962 and hit major stride in 1963."

It said Byron M. Finch forecast that West Virginia would see more exploration by major oil companies in the next three years than all that has gone before.

Among firms said investing in exploration in the Appalachian area, with West Virginia as the center, are a division of Standard Oil; Pure Oil Co.; Shell Oil Co.; Phillips Petroleum and H. L. Hunt and Barron Kidd of Dallas, Tex.

Finch said he had never seen "a concerted effort to explore the deeper geological formations" in the Appalachians. He said he believed the large firms would "stay here (in West Virginia) until they determine if we have deep oil."

Most of the activity, Finch said, would be across the northern borders of the state and down the high ridges of Eastern West Virginia.

The Porcupine Mountains in Michigan's upper peninsula rise to an elevation of 2,023 feet above sea level, one of highest land masses between the Adirondacks and the Black Hills. The "Porkies" are part of Michigan's Porcupine Mountain State Park, which, with its 57 thousand acres, is the largest state park in the nation.

SRC To Study Plan For Wiring W.Va. Highways

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI) — A resolution calling on the State Road Commission to study the feasibility of "wiring" highways with electricity to keep them clear of snow and ice off roads during the winter was adopted by the House of Delegates Tuesday.

Dels. W. R. Wilson, D-Marion, and Noah Floyd, D-Mingo, sponsored the measure which won the approval on voice vote. It now goes to the senate where a similar measure is under study in the roads committee.

Explaining the resolution, Wilson said in a floor speech that it is basically aimed at promoting a new use for coal.

"Coal is used in West Virginia to make electricity and if we find a new use for electricity, then we've found a new use for coal," Wilson said. "I don't know whether the project is feasible or not, but I do know that no member of this House knows for sure whether it is not feasible."

He said he felt the study should be made because "we have nothing to lose and in the long run we might have a lot to gain," in that it could be "a boon to industrial development."

Warmup With Rain Forecast For State

By The Associated Press

Milder temperatures accompanied by overnight rain were expected to aid Marylanders as they continue to dig out from last Friday's snow.

The Weather Bureau forecast rain continuing through Wednesday.

The milder temperatures have broken the ice blockade in the Chesapeake Bay. Shipping in the lower Bay is reported almost back to normal, with only small craft and low powered tugs being unable to maneuver.

A Pennsylvania freight train stuck in a 12 foot snow drift near Woodsboro, Md., was freed early Tuesday by crews who had worked since Saturday to release it.

Roads throughout the state were fairly clear, although some have icy spots which continue to make driving hazardous.

Strip Star Explains Her Popularity

Editor's Note: Scotland Yard is trying to close down the strip clubs that have made London the nude capital of the West. One of the stars responsible for this new distinction is Trixie Kent who set down the following thoughts on the subject.

By TRIXIE KENT

LONDON (UPI) — A girl can't be too careful who she takes her clothes off in front of these days.

Three friends of mine were taking theirs off one night — in our strip tease club, of course, — and they saw what looked like a familiar face in the audience.

It turned out this fellow had seen the show five times and my friends were delighted. They thought "well, we're certainly pulling them in at the box office."

Then they learned — in court — that he was a Scotland Yard detective.

It seems the Yard considers stripping naughty and is trying to stop it in London where there are dozens of strip clubs and theaters. Myself, I agree with Gypsy Rose Lee who always said it was an art form.

I once even wanted to bill myself as an "ecdyasiast." That's an Oxford and Cambridge word for someone who takes her clothes off artistically. But when I told my roommate I was one she said I ought to keep it quiet and see a psychiatrist.

So since she didn't know what it was I decided not to try it on the audience at the famous Raymond Revuebar where I am resident star.

People often tell me that London is now the strip capital of the world — it used to be Paris — and that I'm one of the reasons for it. I don't know about that but I think I've helped prove that English girls have nothing to hide.

Mind you it isn't easy to strip. Anybody can take her clothes off, of course, but it requires stage presence to do it well. Most of us have had other show business experience and I have had musical comedy and television offers as a singer and dancer.

Sometimes I am tempted to take these jobs when I think that there are people who consider the human body obscene. There is always a chance, until the courts decide whether it is or isn't, that one of them will be out in the audience taking notes.

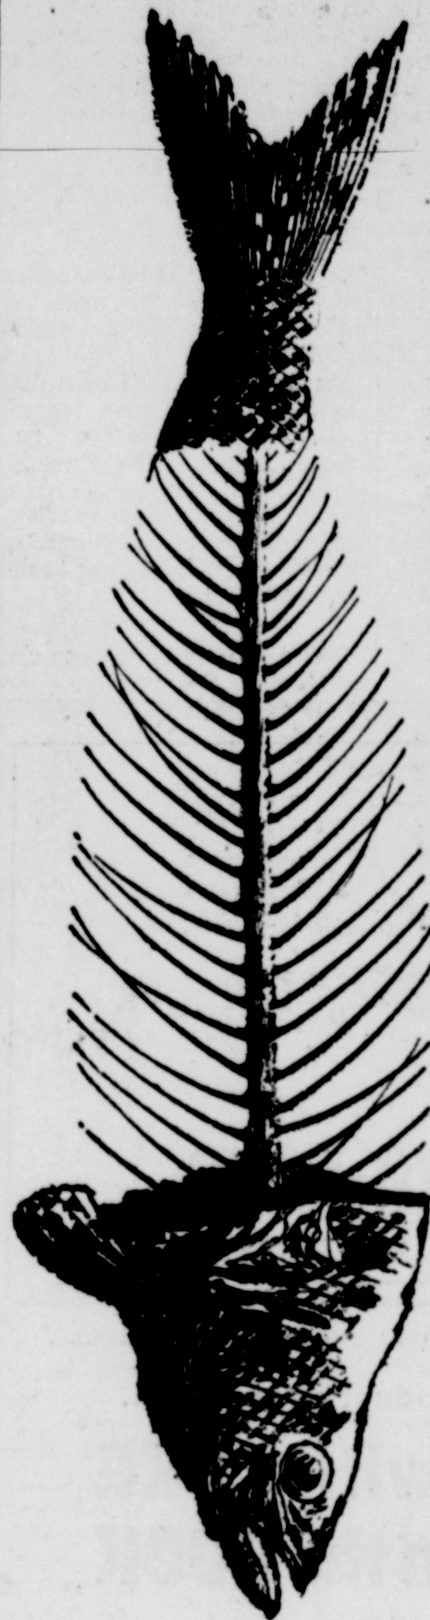

So far I seem to have missed them by the skin of my teeth — which is about all I don't show in my act.

Clinic Draws Interest

FAIRMONT, W. Va. (UPI) — The Upper Monongahela Valley Association said Tuesday that five states have inquired about the West Virginia Travel Clinic, which it co-sponsors. A spokesman said queries have been received from Louisiana, Colorado, Georgia, Arkansas and Wyoming — expressing a desire to set up similar forums.

Files Appeal

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI) — The West Virginia Supreme Court was asked Tuesday to review a Wetzel County Circuit Court decision rejecting Mrs. Ara Virginia Henthorn's $20,000 suit against Carl Long of near Pine Grove for the death of her husband some 2½ years ago when Long's car crashed into the rear of a car driven by Mr. Henthorn.

Equal Rights For Capital Citizens

Taxation without representation has been the lot of the citizens of the District of Columbia since 1800 when the capital city was established. In partial recognition that American democracy should begin at home, the 86th Congress last spring passed, and submitted to the states for ratification, a constitutional amendment that would permit citizens of the District to vote at least once every four years—for President and Vice President of the United States.

The amendment requires the ratification by 38 states within seven years in order to take effect. To date, the legislatures of 12 states (California, Idaho, Hawaii, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Minnesota, New Jersey, New Mexico, Nevada, New York, and Oregon) have approved the provision. Only Arkansas has voted against it so far. The 59 to 26 vote against ratification in the Arkansas House of Representatives ostensibly resulted from fear that the District really was seeking "to create another state."

But it is no secret that many Southern legislators have little interest in providing voting rights for a city in which the Negro population is 53.9 per cent of the total.

Ratification also appears to be imperiled in some Republican-controlled states—this time on the ground that Democratic strength is concentrated in the cities and would certainly be increased if Washington got its three electoral votes.

Proponents of the amendment say neither of the two fears—statehood or Democratic control—can stand up when confronted by the facts. When Congress adopted its amendment resolution, it was with the specific understanding and stated purpose that the amendment would not give the District representation in Congress or any other attributes of a state. Finally, no one can possibly know how the District would vote in a Presidential election because it hasn't had a chance to do so in 160 years.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky
Amazing Piracy

The United States has sent hundreds of millions of dollars to rehabilitate Italy and Italy is now one of the more prosperous countries in Europe. However, the Italians forget whence came their redemption. This was brought out startlingly by Lyman C. Duncan, of the Lederle Laboratories which manufacture pharmaceuticals and spend huge sums on research.

Said Duncan:

"While Italian names are prominent in every other field of science, there has not been a single medical product of any consequence coming out of Italy since that law (Mussolini's withdrawal of patent protection for pharmaceuticals) was abrogated."

Then he told his tale of woe:

"When we bring out a new product in this country or when a new product comes out in Germany, Switzerland or anywhere else, these people simply have someone pick up the product, fly it to Italy, and they start duplicating it."

"Now, they use other devious means of getting it a little earlier so they can also try to have it on the market at the same time, and they are absolutely immune from any kind of suit."

Naturally, it is less expensive to pirate than to do research; it is less costly to steal than to buy, unless you get caught—and the Italian, in his own country, cannot get caught according to their law. What he does is legitimate in Italy.

Italians, in fact, go about their trickeries openly. "Chemical Engineering News" published an advertisement which is a stimulant to corruption. It reads:

"Processes Wanted. Foreign manufacturer seeks information or consulting services for production of antibiotics, vitamins, steroids and pharmaceutical chemicals, by microbiological and synthetic organic techniques. Products will be sold only in foreign countries where patents do not apply. All replies held in strictest confidence. Unusually attractive compensation. Write to representative presently in U.S.A., Dr. Angelo Mancuso, 15 Bergen Boulevard, Fairview, New Jersey."

The interesting fact about Fairview, New Jersey, is that it is close to the Lederle, the Merck, the Squibb and other pharmaceutical manufacturers. It would be a simple matter for a chemist to sell a process that cost several million dollars on research and the chemical could come out in Italy about the same time that it does here.

The significance of this testimony before the Senate Subcommittee on Antitrust and Monopoly is that more and more American industries are becoming conscious about how the American businessman and the American worker are being trimmed. The palliatives for taking care of the unemployed do not at all meet the problem of unemployment. The foreign producers, spending nothing on research, nothing on pilot operations, paying low wages, can afford to make and dump the product in the American market at a low price.

A worker, in this country, who receives, let us say $84 a week and who has a take-home pay of, let us say, $60 a week, taking all deductions into consideration, cannot compete with a worker who gets $14 a week in the same industry in a foreign country. He cannot compete with the products of that alien worker in the American market.

The other night, I asked Henry Hazlitt, a leading American economist and an exponent of the free market, where on earth there is a free market today. Quite truthfully, he had to say: "Nowhere!" That makes all classical arguments about the free market futile because one deals with realities. While the United States removes protection for industry, every other country continues its protection against imports. Quotas have been established, particularly against American products at the same time that the United States pours huge sums into these various countries in the form of economic and military aid.

The problem of unemployment must be dealt with objectively and systematically. There are many causes for unemployment in the United States. For some of them there may be no solution. As, for instance, the question might be asked, do we really need a work force of 65,000,000 or over? And if not, what is to be done about those who are unemployed? One might ask whether it is economically or socially sound for married women to work in factories while their children are uncared for?

There are many questions to be asked, the answers to which cannot come off the top of the head. President Kennedy can get the answers. There are men in this country with vast experience in making jobs.

'Don't Infringe On His Civil Liberties'

New President Usually Enjoys Early Popularity

WASHINGTON — Where does President Kennedy stand today in popularity throughout the country?

Many people who didn't vote for him are saying nice things about him. Their comment is that his television appearances thus far have made a good impression and that his statements on public policy have been restrained, cautious and prudent.

Indeed, while it is hazardous always to predict what a public opinion pool on the popularity of a President will show in the future, it wouldn't be surprising to see the Kennedy percentage go up into the 70's or even the 80's. It will be recalled, however, that in the early days of his first administration, President Truman reached a figure of 87 per cent—an all-time high for a President—only to drop to an all-time low of 23 per cent in November 1951.

This writer recalls that in the Spring of 1945 the late Charles G. Ross, Mr. Truman's press secretary and a former newspaperman of experience, said privately that he was puzzled by the seeming lack of criticism and that things "look too good to be true." This often happens in what is described as the "honeymoon" period. Even President William Howard Taft was thrilled by it in 1909, only to find himself defeated three and a half years later.

President Kennedy got the votes of approximately half the American people last November. Presumably he has retained that support and needs only to make some inroads in the other half. Apparently he now has made some substantial gains there.

But the ups and downs of popularity polls show that, while public opinion isn't exactly fickle, it reacts sharply to the things that might be called "irregular." Thus the Truman administration was hurt by the scandals that cropped up in various departments of the government and, though Mr. Truman personally wasn't in any way involved, the episodes nevertheless did turn public opinion away from him and helped bring about the defeat of the Democratic Party in 1952.

Anything that touches integrity is a delicate issue, which quickly influences the voters. The public doesn't like political fixing or political chicanery. One of the main reasons for Dwight Eisenhower's almost unbroken popularity—it averaged 66 per cent throughout his two administrations—was his aloofness from politics. He was for such a long time in the military service that he didn't have a chance to learn the wiles of politics. In fact, his environment and training led him to shun politics. He suffered some defeats in Congress because he didn't understand the art of "playing politics," but, on the whole, the country approved of him as a man who put the nation's interest above all else—even political gain.

Already whatever criticism has been heard about President Kennedy is that he is a practical politician who will make members of Congress "toe the mark, or else." The American people, it will be discovered in due time, don't like that kind of tactics. If it should turn out that all the SUFFRAGE—Residents of the District of Columbia, only ones in the continental United States who cannot vote, ran into a new roadblock in their effort to obtain ratification of a constitutional amendment giving them the vote in presidential elections.

Congress approved such an amendment, and the 50 states are now in the process of considering it for ratification. Affirmative action by 38 states is needed.

The other day, however, the Arkansas legislature resoundingly rejected the amendment, and persons who have been following progress fear that other Southern states will also turn the amendment down.

Without nearly all of the Southern states, the amendment will not be ratified. The reason for Arkansas' rejection can be found in some recent statistics issued by the Census Bureau. Washington, D. C., is now 53 per cent colored.

NEW TEAM—The new Kennedy team is being drawn from the length and breadth of the land. So far, the President has named men for his top level of administrators from more than half the states and the District.

But, unlike previous administrations, Washington, D. C., leads all the rest, with 23 appointees. New York has 15, running slightly ahead of Massachusetts' 13. Virginia, because of its proximity to the capital, also has 13, with 10 each from California and Illinois. Thus far, none from Hawaii or Alaska, but that'll probably be changed in the weeks immediately ahead.

Bottled Suntan Harmless For Most People

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dollen

The artificial tan so many people obtained from a bottle last summer suggested various research products for dermatologists. The main question is whether the product is harmless. Another is, "How does it work?"

The active ingredient of this type of preparation is dihydroxyacetone. It is harmless when applied to the skin, but there is no guarantee that the outcome will be a beautiful brown. The skin of older people may present a mottled look rather than an even tan.

Eva Wittgenstein and Helen K. Berry, of Children's Hospital Research Foundation in Cincinnati, found the answer to the question—"How?" They mixed dihydroxyacetone with many different chemicals in test tubes. The addition of certain skin proteins turned the solution brown. Some of these proteins, such as arginine, lysine, and histidine, are present in high concentration in the skin. The reaction is somewhat the same as the browning that occurs in dried foods left in storage.

Two other groups of researchers reported that the chemical is innocuous but that its application offers no protection from the tanning rays of the sun. More recently two New Orleans physicians have reported four cases of contact dermatitis among users of this type of tanning agent.

An inventive Texan made a novel belt buckle that doubles as a pill box. It all started when he developed heart disease and was told to take a nitroglycerine tablet whenever chest pain came on.

Sometimes he forgot to carry his tablets and almost paid the consequences. This man conceived the idea of putting the pills in his belt buckle because in this way he would never be without his medicine unless he forgot to wear his trousers and belt. His new pill box buckle fits all standard one inch belts.

EYE DISEASES

R. H. W. writes: Are glaucoma and cataracts related in any way?

REPLY
No, except that both may lead to blindness unless treated. In glaucoma, the tension within the eyeball increases and if this pressure is sustained, the delicate cells of the retina will be destroyed. Cataract is a clouding of the lens. Occasionally glaucoma develops as a complication of the cataract operation.

MOANS BOY

Mrs. U. writes: My 4 year old boy has moaned in his sleep since birth. He is healthy, happy, and active and seems to sleep restfully except for the moaning. What should be done about this?

REPLY
Don't tell him and he'll never know. In all probability, as he matures, he will begin sleeping peacefully.

None. When strain proves too much for the heart it may go into a state of failure, with shortness of breath and dropsy. But

One Of Ike's Gettysburg Farm Partners Involved In Chrysler

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Digging into the interesting fact that three oilmen were silent partners in the Eisenhower farm at Gettysburg, this column ran into some significant and important conflicts in other areas.

All this contrasted sharply with the much-publicized conflict involving Harry Truman in which Mrs. Truman received a $1,200 deep freeze, regarding which the press, including this writer, was quite vocal.

Believing there can't be two standards of morality for presidents, one a Republican, the other a Democrat, this column has checked into the operations of Mr. Eisenhower's silent partners, one of them being W. Alton Jones, head of Cities Service, a company which benefited from Ike's last-minute Jan. 19 order on residual fuel oil imports.

Mr. Jones is also a director of the Chrysler Corporation, seventh largest corporation in the United States, which recently fired its president, William C. Newberg, for having an interest in a company which sold door hinges and trim to Chrysler.

Investigation of Chrysler shows that it has conflicts of interest going far beyond the Newberg case, including one, possibly two, involving "Pete" Jones. Mr. Jones had helped to purge Newberg.

The amazing question is why the Securities and Exchange Commission, charged with protecting American investors, has not moved vigorously to clean up the Chrysler mess; also how the United States is going to win its tough competition with the Communist world if American business executives put personal profit ahead of public confidence.

Repeated attempts were made by this column to contact W. Alton Jones for his side of the story. He was traced to Washington, then New York, then Phoenix, then Mexico, then back to New York, where the last word was that he was ill and could not talk.

Inside Chrysler
However, here is the carefully checked story of what happened inside the third largest auto corporation in the world.

During most of the 15 years Jones has been a director of Chrysler he has been chief owner of Surface Combustion, Inc., of Toledo, a firm making gas furnaces and air-cooling equipment, which Jones acquired from H. L. Doherty in 1939.

This puts Jones in an awkward conflict-of-interest position in two respects: first, Surface Combustion sold around $1,000,000 worth of gas furnaces to Chrysler used for bending glass, in May 1959. Second, Surface Combustion was long in direct competition with Chrysler's Airtemp Division which also manufactures air-cooling and heating equipment.

As a member of Chrysler's finance committee, Jones was supposed to be looking after Chrysler's finances. Yet his own personally dominated company was contributing to the drain on Chrysler's finances by taking business away from money-losing Airtemp.

Representatives of Surface Combustion's Janitrol furnaces and air coolers put up the stiffest competition Chrysler's Airtemp had. It even took dealers away from Airtemp. Meanwhile Jones, chief owner of Surface Combustion, sat as a director and finance committee member of Chrysler.

In November 1959, which happened to correspond with the period when Chrysler stockholder Sol Dann was asking angry questions regarding Chrysler's management, Jones sold Surface Combustion to Midland-Ross of Cleveland for $23,000,000 in cash. "It was a sweet deal," he confided to a Chrysler executive at the time.

Newberg Is Fired
Seven months later, it was Jones who took the lead in firing Chrysler President Newberg for his stock ownership in the Bonan Co., which sold door hinges and trim to Chrysler.

At the April 1960 stockholders meeting the fire built under Chrysler by Sol Dann had got too hot for comfort, and a special committee of directors was appointed to investigate Dann's conflicts-of-interest charges. Who should turn up as chairman of this committee but "Pete" Jones. With him were Juan Trippe of Pan American Airways, Joseph Dodge of the Detroit Bank and Trust, and R. E. McNeil, Jr. of the Hanover Bank.

This had all the earmarks of an attempt to head off a stockholders' investigation which Chrysler directors couldn't control. As long as Jones, the close friend of Board Chairman Lester (Lum) Colbert, was in charge of the committee it was not likely to embarrass either Colbert or Jones.

On June 30, Chairman Colbert summoned an emergency session of the Board of Directors in New York, at which a report was read regarding Newberg's conflict of interest.

Jones, sitting beside Chairman Colbert, then asked for Newberg's resignation. His voice was so low that someone at the other end of the table called, "louder."

"We had no alternative," said Jones in a louder voice to Newberg, "but to ask for your resignation."

It was given. After the meeting the vigilante committee, having lowered the ax, gathered solicitously around Newberg.

"We don't want any blood spilled on the carpet," said Juan Trippe soothingly.

They assured him he had nothing to worry about, that they were his friends, that he need only clean his skirts and he would be able to go on to greater glory in the business world.

Jones suggested that he get a New York lawyer.

"I don't know any New York lawyer," protested Newberg.

"Get some firm like Dewey or Cleary or Bromley," Jones suggested.

"I know Bromley very well," piped up Trippe. "I think he would be good."

They even offered to lend Newberg the money to pay his attorney's fees.

"You ought to give the profits you made back to Chrysler," suggested Joe Dodge. He warned gloomily of trouble with the SEC.

"Bill, you don't know what you've done," he said, shaking his head sadly and soliloquously.

"I hope you aren't in trouble with the SEC," agreed Trippe. "You should go down to the SEC tomorrow."

More of the story of what happened inside Chrysler will follow shortly.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

MIAMI, Fla.—When is a motel a hotel? The answer is when a guest has to walk through a lobby to get to his room. At most motels, the guests park their cars outside the rooms. There are 62,081 motels in the United States. About 5,500 are in the state of Florida.

The word means motor hotel. It started out as a sort of drive-in bed. I can recall motels which looked like little outhouses on the back lawn of farmhouses. They have grown and grown, bigger and more elaborate, until they outshine everything except the most gaudy hotels.

For awhile, they were refuges for nervous lovers who checked in and out before the engine cooled. Some still cater to the Mr. and Mrs. John Smiths. The motel owners have been trying to rise above it. They have organizations that set high standards of inspection and supervision for motels. Last year, one of these organizations dropped 84 motels because of infractions.

The first motel wasn't called by that name. It was a collection of one-room buildings on the Santa Fe Trail. It was owned by Jack Morrow and his wife and it was situated outside of Council Grove. In two years, Morrow was surprised to find that he had sold $12,000 in whisky and $12.50 in bibles.

The first one to use the name motel was the Milestone Mo-Tel, opened in San Luis Obispo, California in 1925. In 35 years, motels have built up to a 2,000,000 room business. Scores of millions of Americans barrel up and down the highways, pausing at motels and eating in coffee shops when darkness overtakes the family.

The biggest one I have ever seen is The Castaways at Miami Beach. It was built by Joe Hart and Leon Garfield and, at a glance, it looks like a gigantic mandarin's castle in Peking. The roof has gables which tilt up on the ends. The dining room is called Shinto Temple and is hung with colored lanterns. Guests wear coolie hats and the music is Polynesian. The waitresses wear red slit skirts with tight Chinese pants underneath.

The place is so big that part of it occupies Fairlyland Island in Biscayne Bay. There are two big buildings there, with a moat to connect them with Miami Beach. Four hundred feet away are three other buildings on the sea. To get across Collins Avenue, the motel has little red floats for patrons with tender tiptoes.

Joe Hart says the motif is Japanese. It looks like an admixture of Chinese and Japanese, with 100 white Peking ducks swimming around the moat. Maybe it's Malay, or early Charley Chan. The whole place has 304 rooms which, in season, rent for $20 a day and up. This is a long way from the old "Gimme a three-dollar and show-me-your-license" business.

A fountain cascades over black rocks in front. A group of tourist fishing boats anchor around the moat. There are 3 swimming pools, 2 wading pools and 1 ocean available to guests. In the Cardinal Room, everything is red; the rug, the walls, the ceiling, the lights, the guests' eyeballs. There is a Rumpus Room for Tois, a supervised playground, a Teen Age room.

On the beach side, The Castaways shoulders a hundred other big motels like Thunderbird, Aztec, Surfside Six, Carib, Driftwood and The Dunes. All are big and costly; all glitter with colored lights and all have the same ocean behind them.

Most of them, with rooms scaled nearly alike and food uniformly excellent, try to appeal to the repeat trade with personalities. A bartender, for example, who can not only mix a drink, but is also handsome and a minor league Bob Hope, will attract his own followers to the motel. The same applies to a good pianist or a good social director.

At the Castaways, Stanley Klim is the personality. He has jet wavy hair, a mustache like a baby's eyebrow, and blue eyes. He presides over the Tahitian Bar and he greets guests by shaking hands with a buzzer in the palm. He has a range of jokes starting with the cute clean ones for elderly maiden ladies and working down into the cuspidor for the fat, steamy trade who like their laughs in the row.

Klim likes to introduce lonesome ladies to lonesome gentlemen. When he sees two girls moping over a drink, and two men walk in, he shouts: "Hey, here are two fellows from your home town!" The girls look up and say: "What part of Philadelphia are you from?" The fellows look at each other and burst into laughter. "We're from Los Angeles," they say. This breaks the conversational ice.

Stanley Klim feels that he is responsible for at least six marriages. He also likes to introduce honeymooners to other honeymooners. As a married man, he feels that these foursomes have a lot to talk about.

This year, motels will take in over a million dollars on rooms alone. They still average about $12.50 in bibles . . .

House Speeds W. Va. Income Tax Measure

Passage Looms By End Of Week

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The House of Delegates speeded progress of the Barron administration's proposed West Virginia income tax bill and set the stage for final enactment of the $15 million measure by the end of the week.

House Speaker Julius Singleton said he would call a Saturday session if necessary to put the final stamp of approval on the measure and send it to the governor for signature.

As it now stands, both the House and Senate are set to pass their own versions of the measure Thursday. Singleton will meet later with Senate President Howard Carson to decide whether the Senate measure will be acted on by the House or the House version will be taken up by the Senate.

The House Finance Committee reported its version of the measure to the floor Tuesday. It contained the same amendments, designed to eliminate possible questions of constitutionality, which were approved Monday by the Senate Finance Committee. The House leadership won unanimous approval to have it read a first time to set the stage for the Thursday voting.

The Senate bill also received first reading Tuesday and both chambers will have the measure at amendment stage Wednesday.

In other major legislative action Tuesday: —The House advanced to a final vote Wednesday the so-called state fair trade bill after, Del. Thomas L. Black, D-Kanawha, withdrew a motion aimed at killing the measure.

—The Senate passed five bills, four dealing with changes in motor vehicle laws, and sent them to the House for concurrence. One would authorize the Road Commission to revise speed limits on open highways to permit trucks under 8,000 pounds to travel at the passenger car limit of 55 miles an hour instead of 45.

—The House approved by voice vote a resolution asking the State Road Commission to study the possibility of "wiring" highways with electricity to melt off snow and ice. The proposal was sent to the Senate for concurrence.

—Chief among new bills introduced Tuesday was a measure aimed at pumping an additional $5.5 million into the state public school program by giving counties an additional $5 in state aid per pupil. The bill also would ensure 180 days of school a year.

Two Keyser Hi Seniors Win Scholarships

Pair Rated Among National Finalists

KEYSER, W. Va.—The Senior Class at Keyser High School, was singularly honored yesterday, when two of their members, at a surprise assembly, were awarded finalist ratings in National Merit Scholarships.

S. T. McKee, superintendent of Mineral County Schools made the presentations to Eric Sheetz, son of Mrs. Frederick Sheetz, and to Joseph Hull, son of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Hull.

James W. Goldsworthy, Keyser High principal, said last night that his school is very proud of these two young men, and it is considered an outstanding accomplishment that a high school with the enrollment the size of Keyser would have two outstanding students in the same class and the same national competition. "These two boys," he noted, "deserve much praise for their academic accomplishment and the credit they have brought to their class, their faculty, their school and their community."

The National Merit Scholarships are made possible through the coordinated efforts of and funds provided by 115 firms, corporations and foundations. In the spring of each year, members of Junior classes in high schools are given an opportunity to take examinations. In the present competition, 580,000 students participated. From this number, semi-finalists were selected. Last fall, these semi-finalists took a second test. From this competition, 9,800 have been named finalists, including the two young honor students at Keyser.

Mr. Goldsworthy noted he has been advised that Mineral County has three winners, with one award to be made at Piedmont High School. This announcement is to be made today. He also said that in this area he believes there is one in Hampshire County.

The amount of scholarship to be received by the winners can range from $100 to $1500 per year for four years, based upon requirements and need. The recipients can enter any college or university of their choice. Announcement of the awards will be made to the winners on March 20 and to the public on April 27.

At Keyser High School on March 6, Mr. Goldsworthy said, members of the Junior class will be given an opportunity to take examinations in the 1962 National Merit Scholarship Program.

Barton Personals

BARTON — Rev. Byron Keesecker, pastor of Barton Methodist Church, attended a special meeting of the Baltimore Conference, Monday in Washington.

Mrs. Myrtle Smith, a former resident of here, entered Memorial Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Llewellyn moved here from Portland, Ore. They will reside in the Baker Apartment.

Wilbur Johnson of Pekin is a patient in Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser.

Mrs. Byron Keesecker visited with her sister in Hagerstown.

Footo Tells Rotarians Importance Of Hobbies

FROSTBURG—Theodore Footo, president of the Cumberland Rotary Club and supervisor of art in Allegany County schools, was speaker at Monday night's program of the Frostburg Rotary Club held at Clarysville Inn.

Footo spoke upon hobbies for those looking forward to retirement within the next 10 to 15 years. He pointed out that after a person has spent a lifetime on a job with all of its problems and then retires with nothing to do, there is a great let down which is detrimental physically and mentally. He stated that a hobby can add greatly to retirement satisfaction by giving the person a center of interest.

A hobby, however, should be started at least 10 to 15 years before retirement to give the person a chance to acquire skills, tools and knowledge necessary to allow him to gain the greatest satisfaction from it. Footo warned against becoming neurotic over a hobby, allowing it to overcome the person and destroy the real satisfaction that may be derived from it.

St. Peter's Hi Presents 15th Play Tourney

"Three On A Bench" Declared Winner

WESTERNPORT — John Atkinson was named best actor and Nancy Checchitto was named best actress in the fifteenth annual play tournament presented Sunday night in St. Peter's auditorium, by student of St. Peter's High School. The winning play, in which both appeared, was "Three On A Bench." Other members of the cast are Patricia Sheehan and Michael Niland. The play was directed by John Dailey.

Honorable mention as best actor went to Terrance Whelan, who appeared in "Cup of Kindness." Other members the cast in this play are Joseph Nelson, Carol McKone, Nancy Jenkins, Eugene Fisher and Judy Determan. Miss Kathryn Murphy directed the production, but she was absent due to the death of her mother, Mrs. Edward Murphy.

Sandra McKenzie, who appeared in "Thunderhead," was given honorable mention as best actress. In this play, other cast members included Dennis O'Rourke, Patricia Whelan, Naomi Taylor, Patrick Fazanbaker, Russell Poland and Francis Herbert. Miss Katherine McBee directed the play.

Judges included Dr. Elizabeth Atwater, of Potomac State College, Keyser; Mrs. P. E. Berry, Piedmont, and Miss Elrose Tibbets of Bruce High faculty.

Rev. Linus Robinson, pastor of St. Peter's Catholic Church, announced the decisions of the judges.

Midland Sr. 4-H Plans Benefit

LONACONING—Midland Senior 4-H Club held their February meeting Monday in Midland fire hall, and made plans for a cookie sale Saturday.

Joyce Buckalew, president, called the meeting to order. Sally Miller gave the treasurer's report. New 4-H calendars were distributed by the club's leader, Mrs. Ruth Tighe. The club plans a cookie sale on Saturday and members are asked to bring the cookies to Mrs. Tighe's home.

Funds derived from the sale will be used to purchase 4-H jackets for the club in March.

Helen Stakem gave a demonstration on making artificial flowers. She was assisted by Joyce Buckalew. A report on the State Older Youth Conference held January 12 in Baltimore was given by Lois and Sally Miller.

Refreshments were served by Joyce Buckalew.

Bruce Turns Back Fort Hill, Beall Defeats Allegany

Bulldogs Cop Lead In WMI In 64-56 Win

Campers Bow, 75-58, Overtime Tilt Won By Mt. Savage, 58-56

WMI STANDINGS

Beall	4	2	.667
Allegany	4	2	.667
Fort Hill	3	3	.500
Mt. Savage	2	4	.333

By TED TROXELL

Beall High's Mountaineers, whose recent basketball success has supplanted the abominable snow as the chief topic of conversation up Frostburg way, breezed to a surprisingly easy 75-58 win over Allegany last night and enabled the Bruce Bulldogs, who pulled out a hard-earned 64-56 decision over Fort Hill, to take over the leadership of the WMI League.

Last night's schedule was such that the red-hot race could have been thrown into a four-way tie, if both Fort Hill and Beall had won. The Mountaineers obliged, but the Sentinels failed to stop the team they had upset earlier in the season at Westernport by a 61-54 score.

Bruce Takes Lead

Bruce now stands alone atop the standings in the six-team circuit with a 5-1 record, while Beall and Allegany, still very much in the race, share the second spot with 4-2 marks. Fort Hill (3-3) suffered a serious blow to its title chances.

The contest between the league's have-nots was the most thrilling of the evening and found Mt. Savage (2-4) edging winless Valley, 58-56, in a double overtime "sudden death" struggle at Lonaconing.

A capacity crowd jammed the Beall High gym and watched the Mounties quickly hop off to a 10-0 lead over an Allegany team that trailed all the way. The Campers pulled to within four points (19-15) at the end of the first period, but Beall widened the margin to 39-25 at intermission and was never in trouble in the second half.

The Mountaineers' biggest splurge (24 points) came in the fourth period and was accomplished without the services of 6'3" center Marshall Hamilton, who fouled out 16 seconds before the third quarter ended. Abye taking up the rebounding slack was Hamilton's replacement, Larry Taylor.

Win 8th Straight

All five starters hit double figures for Coach "Ebbie" Finzel's well-balanced quint, which has now won eight in a row and is 12-3 overall. Jim Evans, Allan Eisel and Hamilton collected 15 points apiece, Wayne Metz added 14 and Ronnie Dunn scored 12. Merv Pope was high for the Campers with 18.

A jump shot by Bob Wilson with 40 seconds gone in the final period broke the sixth tie between Bruce and Fort Hill in the game played on the latter team's floor, and the Bulldogs led the rest of the way, although the Sentinels stayed in contention up to about the two-minute mark when their fouling got them in deep trouble.

With 2:15 remaining, Ronnie Manges, whose field goal accuracy kept Fort Hill in the game in the second half, fired in a jump shot that cut Bruce's margin to 53-50, but Freddie Dayton popped in a free throw and Earl Riggelman and Wilson converted a pair apiece to practically put the game out of reach at 58-50 with 1:25 to go.

Bob Purkey Rejects 2d Reds' Pact

Several Other Players Signed

By United Press International

Bob Purkey, the Cincinnati Reds' top winning pitcher last season with 17 triumphs, is posing one of the first problems for the club's new general manager, Bill DeWitt.

Purkey disclosed Tuesday that he already has fired back two contracts offered him by DeWitt because they call for only "a token raise." The big, 31-year-old right-hander said he mailed back the last one a week ago and hasn't heard from DeWitt since. "I've been offered a raise," said Purkey, "but they might just as well keep it."

Maintained Pace

Purkey pointed out that his 17-11 record last year was exactly the same as he had a year ago. He also pointed out that he maintained this pace although the Reds were only a sixth-place team last year instead of a fourth-place team.

"I don't think I'm out of line asking for the same raise this year that I received after the 1958 season," he said. Purkey's unhappiness contrasted with the pleasure of Pittsburgh Pirate right-hander Bob Friend, who reached agreement with the world champions on a salary raise after only 10 minutes discussion.

Friend, who took a salary cut after losing 19 games in 1959, staged an impressive comeback in 1960 and had an 18-12 record with a 3.00 earned run average and a club record of 183 strikeouts. Friend said he will begin working out in Florida in one week, a few days early, because "I want to get back on that mound."

Yankees Sign Three

The New York Yankees announced the signing of three pitchers—right-hander Jim Coates, who had a 13-3 record last year and was rewarded with a sizeable raise over his $12,000 pay of a year ago, and rookies Bob Meyer and Hal Stowe.

In Kansas City, new general manager Frank Lane of the A's took a blast at 1960 A's manager Bob Elliott, who now is a coach for the new Los Angeles Angels of the American League. Noting that Elliott was quoted as saying this year's Angels will be better than last year's A's, Lane admitted the 1960 K-C's weren't very good but suggested Elliott "look in the mirror to see the principal reason."

Pitcher Ray Sadecki, who posted a 9-9 record as a rookie, outfielder Bob Nieman and catcher Carl Sawatski signed with the St. Louis Cardinals bringing their satisfied list to 35 players. Nieman, 34, hit .287 while Sawatski, 33, batted .229 last season.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mt. St. Mary's of Emmitsburg, Md., kept its Mason-Dixon Conference record intact Tuesday night by winning its eighth straight basketball game — an 83-71 defeat of Catholic University.

Catholic is now 6-2 in the conference.

Northern Posts 50-47 Triumph Over Southern

Huskies Even Series With Win At Oakland

Northern High School's Huskies squared accounts for an earlier setback by upsetting Southern High School's Highlanders last night at Oakland by the score of 50-47 as the battle for the championship of Garrett County ended in a tie.

Southern had won the first game of the series on Northern's court by the score of 59-57 on January 17.

A packed house witnessed the return game last night, saw Coach Alvin Jones' quint take a 14-lead at the quarter and stay in command the remainder of the contest. The score was 30-17 at intermission and 40-30 at the end of the third period.

Southern pulled within two points of the Huskies at 43-46 in the final period but never was able to catch the visitors.

The victory gave Northern a 6-7 record while the loss was Southern's sixth against seven wins.

Larry Yommer collected eight goals and 19 points to spark the Northern attack while Dick McCurdy garnered 11 and George Patton 10. Center Dick Stuck headed Southern's scoring with seven baskets and 18 points. Don Colav was runner-up with ten tallies.

Northern held a 19-18 edge in field goals outplayed the Highlanders 12 to 11 at the charity line. Box score:

Duke Upset By Wolfpack

N. C. State Cagers Ring Up 61-59 Win

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—Substitute Terry Litchfield hit on a long jump shot with two seconds remaining to give North Carolina State a 61-59 upset victory over third ranked Duke Tuesday night in an Atlantic Coast Conference basketball game.

The defeat knocked Duke out of first place in the conference and enabled Wake Forest to move ahead. Wake Forest is 9-1 and Duke 8-1.

A crowd of 8,000 saw Duke's Doug Kistler miss a shot with six seconds remaining. State's Ken Rohloff got the ball and called time. When play was resumed, Anton Muehlbauer fed the ball to Rohloff at mid court. He passed to Litchfield who sank the dramatic shot.

It was State's 12th victory against seven losses for the season. Duke is 16-2.

Johnson Stops Bowdry In 9th

Cops Light-Heavy Bout In Florida

By WHITNEY MARTIN

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Harold Johnson of Philadelphia won the National Boxing Association light heavyweight championship Tuesday night by stopping Jesse Bowdry of St. Louis in 45 seconds of the ninth round.

Johnson, who came in at 172 to 173 for Bowdry, paved the way for the finish by scoring knock-downs in the sixth and eighth rounds, and when the bull-shouldered St. Louis brawler went down under a vicious barrage of punches in the ninth, and arose groggy and helpless when the count reached seven, referee Cy Gottfried mercifully stopped the slaughter.

It was a match between a fighter of the classic style against a bobbing, weaving fighter who tried to emulate his trainer, Henry Armstrong, with little success. Johnson was the classic warrior, standing straight, picking off punches, and counter-punching beautifully as the bull-like Bowdry left himself open with lunges.

The 32-year-old Philadelphia was in command most of the way. Always cautious and conservative, he took few chances until he had his man in trouble.

Somerset Tops Hyndman, 65-60

SOMERSET, Pa. — Coach John Keller's Hyndman High quintet dropped its third consecutive game and ninth of the season here last night, bowing to Somerset High, 65-60.

The Hyndman Hornets trailed 19-10 at the end of the first quarter, then pulled into a 29-29 tie at the start of the third stanza, but fell behind as Somerset went ahead to stay.

Petersburg, Top PVC Contender, Plays Piedmont

Lions Seek Revenge For 55-44 Loss

LaSalle To Invade Bayard; Hub Teams In Class AA Battle

Petersburg High School's return engagement with the Piedmont High School Indians looms as the feature attraction on tonight's four-game slate in the Potomac Valley Conference.

The Vikings invade Piedmont with an 11-2 record and Coach William "Huck" Miers' Lions will be striving to avenge the 55-44 defeat they suffered at the hands of the Grant countians on December 13. Piedmont (5-6) is out of the running for the championship but Petersburg is right in the thick of the fight and occupies second place back of Beall High's pacesetters who have won seven out of eight games.

Vikings Near Maximum
Petersburg plays 16 games with conference foes but reaches the P. V. C. conference maximum of 14 tonight. After Piedmont the Vikings meet Bayard and Moorefield. Beall's front running Mountaineers tackle a 10-game slate and play LaSalle and Keyser away from home before lowering the curtain.

According to conference rules the maximum is 14 games for each school. No wins are counted after that but losses are and for each loss a game is deducted from the team's win column. To qualify for the title a team must play a minimum of eight games—that's home-and-home tilts with four schools.

Elk Garden, at present in third place with a 10-2 mark, has remaining contests with Fort Ashby, twice, and Southern.

LaSalle Visits Bayard
LaSalle, occupant of fourth place, has four more games on its P. V. C. schedule and the first is with Bayard High School on the Grant county team's court. Other games on the Explorers' card, all at home, are with Ridgeley, Fort Ashby and Beall. LaSalle beat Bayard here in the first game of the season by the score of 72-49.

Moorefield (9-3) tackles the Golden Tornado (6-4) at Keyser tonight while Paw Paw's Pirates (5-5) host Capon Bridge which has failed to win a conference game in seven tries.

Circleville High steps out of the conference tonight to engage Harman High School of Randolph county in a game scheduled for Circleville.

Big Game In Hub City
Coach Nick Scallion's South Hagerstown Rebels can qualify for the district Class AA games if they defeat Mel Henry's North Hagerstown Hubs when they tangle tonight in the Hub City. The Rebs have topped 14 of 15 games this season and won the opener of the city series by the score of 66-34. A victory for the Henrymen would require the staging of a "rubber" game. Winner of this series meets the victor in the Beall-Frederick game in the district event. North High is 6-7 for the season.

Final Rites Held For Parke Carroll

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (UPI)—More than 800 persons paid last respects to Parke Carroll Tuesday as funeral services were held for the former general manager and vice president of the Kansas City Athletics.

Carroll, 56, died Saturday after suffering a heart attack while playing golf.

Among those attending Tuesday's services at a funeral home here were Will Harridge, former president of the American League, George Weiss, former president of the New York Yankees, and Charles O. Finley, new owner of the Athletics.

Dick Hall, the Kansas City A's pitcher, recently suffered a wrist fracture playing basketball.

BOB SIGNS CONTRACT—General Manager Joe L. Brown of the Pittsburgh Pirates (right) watches his ace righthander, Bob Jensen, sign his 1961 contract yesterday. Friend posted an 18-12 record with the world champions last year and set a new season strikeout record for the club by fanning 182 batters.

Gaels In Close Game Legion Ups Age To 18
This Deer Tale Tops Phil Reich Dies

By C. V. BURNS

IF YOU HAVE a heart condition and you're trying to avoid excitement please keep away from basketball games played by St. Mary's Gaels of the Catholic Youth League.

The Gaels have played 12 games this season, winning three and losing nine and they've lost seven games by the margin of one to four points.

Two of the setbacks were "sudden death" double overtime battles with Mt. Savage (42-40) and SS. Peter & Paul (41-39). Two games were lost by a single point, to St. Michael's (44-43) and St. Patrick's (50-49). They dropped another pair by three-point margins and one by four points.

Two of the three wins scored by St. Mary's also were hair-raising. They eked out a 44-43 win over St. Michael's and squeezed out a 43-40 decision over SS. Peter and Paul.

MANY are the tall and funny tales about hunting and fishing, but this one, true or not, just about tops 'em all.

While hunting in the Johns-ton (Pa.) area, a gunner saw a buck and shot; the deer dropped in its tracks. The hunter went up to the deer and nudged it a few times with his foot to make sure it was dead. Then he leaned his rifle against a tree and began to fill out the required tag.

He then stuck the tag in the buck's ear, tying the ear down to keep the tag in place. Next he took off his coat, hung it over his rifle barrel and made ready to clean the animal.

Just as the man reached for his hunting knife the deer sprang up and took off. Flat-footed, the man decided the deer could not get far, head-shot as it was. So he set out in pursuit.

He sighted the deer again just in time to see another hunter draw a bead on it. As the animal dropped for the second time, the first hunter screamed at the other not to touch the deer. Conversation in loud voices followed.

First hunter: "Don't touch that deer; it's mine."

Second hunter: "Like ..... it's yours; I just shot that deer."

First hunter: "Don't you go near him. He's mine and he's tagged."

Second hunter: "You're nuts, I just shot him."

"[All the time the two men are moving up on the downed deer.]

First hunter: "Just a second friend, that deer is tagged."

Second hunter: "Damn it, mister, I'm getting sore. There's no tag on that deer. It came down past me and I shot it."

First hunter: "Take a look in that deer's ear. If there's no tag there, it's all yours."

The other looked and sure enough there was the tag in his ear.

"Okay, mister," he said, "take the deer. Anyone who can tag a deer on the run is welcome to it."

With that he walked into the woods mumbling to himself.

BOYS UP TO 18 years of age will be eligible from now on for the American Legion junior baseball program.

The previous age limit was 17. This should be good news to Fort Cumberland Post No. 13 which has been represented by teams for many years.

THE DEATH of Phil Reich, 71, yesterday at Meyersdale, Pa., marked the passing of one of the best known athletes of bygone days and one of the top basketball

All-Star Squads Selected For Sunday School Game

Jensen Signs With Red Sox

Outfielder Ends One-Year Layoff

BOSTON (AP)—The Boston Red Sox Tuesday announced receipt of the signed contract of outfielder Jackie Jensen, who is making a comeback after a year of retirement.

As usual, no salary terms were disclosed, but it was generally believed the husky slugger would receive about $40,000.

Jensen, the American League's most valuable player in 1958, led the league in runs batted in with 112 in 1959. He announced his retirement at the end of that season and was out of baseball last year.

Red Sox Vice President Dick O'Connell said the 34-year-old outfielder wrote that he will be in top physical condition when he reports for spring training.

"He tells me he has been working out every day and is in top shape," O'Connell said. "He's been playing a lot of squash and badminton and that has helped his legs and wind."

on the second floor of a Pittsburgh building. Carl "Moon" Klinging, Dave Merrill, "Peck" Lee, "Yans" Wallace, Bill Davies, Whitey Lytle and "Brick" Fidler were among the other Morris' we recall seeing in action in this section.

DO YOU KNOW that Bill McKechie is the only man in the history of the major leagues to win world championships in three different cities—Pittsburgh (1925), St. Louis (1928) and Cincinnati (1940).

To be eligible for all-star games and special awards, players in the American Hockey League must participate in at least 60 per cent of their team's league games.

Reich played with the old Broadway Athletic Club and Rex Club of Meyersdale and among his teammates of that era were Amos Finnegan, Francis "Irish" Clark and Bill Keegan.

The oldtimers also remember Phil as an outstanding baseball player and automobile racer.

Phil brought many of the country's top road quints to the Pennsylvania community and he also brought most of the name orchestras to Reich's Auditorium for dances.

After moving picture shows at the auditorium, the chairs were moved, netting was hung and basketball games were staged.

JOHNNY JORDAN, of Notre Dame, one of the country's better college basketball coaches, doesn't think much of pro basketball the way it is played today and here's what he has to say about it:

"Nine times out of ten, a football coach can watch the pros on TV and come away with a tip or two to help his own attack or defense. This is not true in pro basketball. All they do is run, shoot and flash two more points on the scoreboard."

"Since they have the pick of the best players in the land, it's news only when they miss a shot. I say our game isn't limited to just one skill—shooting."

"If you want to see basketball as it's meant to be played, you have to stay on the collegiate prep level. That is where all the skills are exhibited to the best of our coaching ability."

"The fan who buys a ticket enjoys good rebounding, defenses, ball handling and maneuvering. Then comes the shot. I place it last; they place it first—and that is all they have to sell."

"Unless they change, they'll never catch or pass us because the fans are going to get pretty weary of those 142 to 141 scores, and I won't blame them."

RAY SCOTT, the fine sports announcer of Station WTAE, who served as master of ceremonies at the Cumberland Dapper Dan dinner in 1956, is leaving Pittsburgh to become associated with the new Minnesota Twins of the American League as baseball announcer.

KEN LOEFFLER, who guided LaSalle College of Philadelphia to two national basketball championships, has returned to the sport as coach at Christian Brothers Academy in New Jersey.

Loeffler takes over the freshman and sophomore teams immediately. The school will begin a varsity schedule next season.

Under Loeffler, LaSalle won the NIT in 1952 and the NCAA crown in 1954. One of the standout players was All-America Tom Gola.

He left LaSalle after the 1955 season and then coached briefly at Texas A.M. He had previously coached at Geneva and Yale and in the pro ranks he tutored the St. Louis Bombers and Providence Steamrollers.

Ken is now a professor of business law at Monmouth College and will continue in that position while coaching at Christian Brothers.

Loeffler was the guest speaker here in 1954 at the LaSalle High School Awards Dinner.

In the 1920s he was a member of the Second Story Morris, one of Pittsburgh's top pro quints which played the Taylor A. A. here, the Keyser Collegians and the Broadways of Meyersdale.

The Morris' got their name from Morry Goldman, their sponsor, who conducted a clothing business

Contest Slated Monday At 8 P. M.

Twenty boys have been selected to represent their respective divisions in the annual YMCA Sunday School Basketball League's all-star game scheduled for Monday on the "Y" court.

Named to the American Division squad to be coached by Frank Trozzo of the league-leading Grace Baptist team, are Lee Miller, First Presbyterian; Ted Bennett, Park Place; Tom Hamilton, Kingsley Methodist; Jack Perkins, Melvin Methodist; Jeffrey Milberg, Maccabees; Jim Diamond, Emmanuel Episcopal; Jim Arrowood, First Presbyterian; Vincent Delagrange, Melvin Methodist; Kent Allison, St. Paul's Lutheran; and Jim Bowman, Grace Baptist.

Forrest Snider, coach of the first-place First EUB squad, will be in charge of the National Division team composed of John Roy, St. Matthew's; Wayne Jewell, First EUB; Gary Seibert, Trinity Methodist; Gary Leasure, First Baptist; Russell Reynolds, St. Mark's; Douglas Arrowood, First Methodist; Leroy Hane-kamp, First Baptist; George Kinsley, St. Mark's; Mickey Keller, Salvation Army; and Leroy Reuschel, Trinity Methodist.

The all-star tilt will be preceded by a preliminary battle pitting the coaches, managed by Eddie Root, vice president of the league, against the referees, managed by Robert Young, loop secretary. This game will get underway at 7 p. m.

At 8 o'clock the American League all-stars will play the National League all-stars in the feature attraction.

The two all-star teams will practice Saturday after regularly-scheduled league games are completed. The American Division team will drill at Allegheny High School's gym while the National Division practice will be held on the Central YMCA floor.

Los Angeles' Angels, who will train at Palm Springs, Calif., will be housed in the swanky Desert Inn.

the GREATEST!

by Walter Johns

FEW WILL DISPUTE that George Edward Arcaro is the biggest little man in his profession—and the GREATEST of all the little men who ride horses for a living.

"Banana Nose" they call him, and in booting 'em home in the big ones there never has been another so well-gifted.

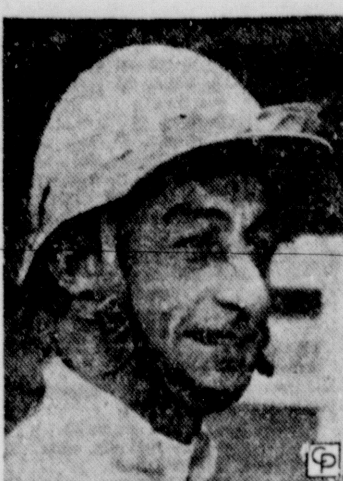

Still riding after 29 years, Arcaro ascends the pedestal of jockey fame despite the fact he never has won the riding championship. It's strange but true and also understandable for Eddie, the greatest money-winner on the turf, never bothered himself about riding that much each year. He has brought home more than 4,000 winners, however.

Over the years of fame and fortune Eddie's mounts have won nearly $30,000,000 and included in his calling cards are five Kentucky Derby victories, 11 times being the leading stakes winner of the year and six times being the leading money-winner.

A FRIENDLY, talented and nice guy despite the rail wolves who alternately boo and cheer him, Arcaro came out of Cincinnati, where he was born February 19, 1916, to take to the horses as a youngster. He was brought up near the old Latonia race track and he got the "bug" early in life.

He was only 14 when he quit school at Newport, Ky. High in the first year, and sought his way in the outdoors, with a natural love for horses.

He was 16 years old when he brought home his first winner, a horse by the name of Eagle Bird, at Agua Caliente, in 1932.

Eddie Arcaro

Three years later he was riding in his first Kentucky Derby, aboard Nellie Flag, and the youngster did well, bringing the thoroughbred in fourth.

The name of Arcaro was flashed around the country in 1938 when he brought Lawrin home first in the Derby, his first big victory.

Since that time, he has won four other Derbies with Whirlaway, Hoop Jr., Citation and Hill Gail. He has ridden in the Derby 18 times and a dozen of his mounts have been post-time favorites.

ARCARO, who has made a fortune in racing, has invested wisely too. He has oil investments and a saddlery business. He is the author of a book on racing. In his spare time he plays golf frequently.

The GREATEST on the turf lives at Garden City, L.I., with his wife and two children when he is not playing his trade at the major race tracks around the country.

Seymour Joins Birds

BALTIMORE (AP)—Mike Seymour, 35, of Scarsdale, N. Y., has been named assistant farm director of the Baltimore Orioles.

Harry Dalt, who recently took over as Oriole farm director, announced the appointment of Seymour.

Pick Open Site

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UPI)—The 36-hole sectional qualifying test for the U.S. Open golf championship will be held at the New Haven Country Club May 22, it was announced Tuesday.

The sectional round will be held June 6 on a course not picked as yet.

Hall Of Fame Plan In W. Va. Draws Debate

Civic Center Move Brings Opposition

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—A resolution to designate a portion of the Charleston Civic Center as the West Virginia Sports Hall of Fame produced a few minutes of lively debate Tuesday in the State Senate.

Minority Leader John Carrigan of Sherrard, Marshall County, and Sen. Clarence E. Martin, Martinsburg, argued against the resolution. Speaking for it were Majority Leader William Moreland, Morgantown, and Sen. Joseph Handlan of Vienna, Wood County.

Carrigan questioned the Legislature's authority to change the name of any city-owned building.

Martin successfully asked that action on the resolution be postponed until he could offer an amendment prohibiting appropriation of state funds for the center.

Moreland assured opponents the resolution had been endorsed by Charleston Mayor John Shanklin and the Civic Center. Handlan said the resolution would not change the name of the center but would merely set a portion of it aside for displaying plaques, pictures and other awards honoring outstanding West Virginia athletes.

Racing To Resume Today At Bowie

BOWIE, Md. (AP)—Racing at Bowie is scheduled to resume Wednesday with the inaugural running of the $10,000 added Potomac Stakes for fillies and mares heading a nine-race card.

The six furlongs event, erased last Saturday by a snow storm, attracted nine entries. If all start, The Potomac will have a gross purse of $11,100 and the winner will earn $7,215.

Credit Union Appoints 1961 Officers

Harold G. Fansler has been re-elected president of the board of directors of the Pitt-CO. Md. Federal Credit Union.

Other officers and directors of the board are Donald W. Browne, vice president; Bernard Gehauf, treasurer; Don Andrews, secretary; and William Hersh, Harding Barbe and James Bishop, directors.

The credit committee includes Frederick Knobloch, chairman; James I. Wright, secretary; and LeRoy Iser and Joseph Leasure, members.

The supervisory committee includes Russel Minnick, chairman; Joseph Keefe and Chester Collins, members.

The officers were elected by secret ballot at a recent meeting in the Rubber Workers Hall, when a four per cent dividend was declared on all shares on record December 31.

A party followed the installation of the newly elected officers.

All employees of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company working in the Cumberland area are eligible to become members. Credit union business is transacted from an office in Gehauf's Amoco Station, Park Street. Monthly board meetings are held in the Moose Home.

Lutheran Men To Meet

Frostburg DAV To Get Hearing On Beer Sale

The Disabled American Veterans Club of Frostburg is scheduled to be given a hearing this afternoon on a charge of selling beer to minors last week.

The hearing, set for 3:30 p. m. is scheduled to be heard by Trial Magistrate Edward Flanagan.

The violation was reported to have occurred before midnight Friday when beer was sold to three youths who reside in Frostburg.

The club, operated by Edward Shoemaker, is located on Main Street in that community, authorities said.

The three youths, about 19, were reported to have entered the club Friday night and purchased the beer. They apparently got into an argument after leaving the club and it was learned by police of Frostburg they had bought some beer at the club.

Officers Edward Bevans and Joseph Dormio investigated, and a warrant was procured on Saturday from Magistrate Flanagan.

Senator See, passed the Senate yesterday and was in the hands of the Delegation. It would authorize the County Commissioners to appropriate not more than $10,000 a year toward the support of Miners Hospital. The bill was requested by the Board of Governors of the hospital.

Referred back to the Delegation yesterday was House Bill 197, which would allow the Allegany County sheriff to appoint three deputies in each volunteer fire company, giving them police powers while going to, and from a fire in unincorporated areas.

Also referred back to the Delegation yesterday was House Bill 217, which provides exemptions from county, but not state and city taxes, for certain property owned by labor unions. The legislative intent, Mr. Driscoll said, was to extend the privilege enjoyed by fraternal organizations to labor unions.

Del. Driscoll said at 10:30 p. m. that the legislators will take the various school programs under advisement.

He said the legislators have been informed of the County Commissioners' point of view on the subjects and are now in a position to make a decision.

The commissioners were represented by President John J. Rowan, Commissioner John T. Mason and Leslie J. Clark, board attorney. Sitting in was Julius Tarrant, county planning consultant.

SENIOR CUB—Senator John Marshall Butler, R-Md., Maryland's senior senator, thanks young James Plitt of Kensington for his Boy Scout emblem. The young Cub Scout, who lives at 4394 Dresden Street, Kensington, pinned the Senator on a visit to his Senate office during Boy Scout Anniversary Week.

Owner, Trainer Part In Argument Over Jockey Switch

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 7 (AP)—Mrs. Mary Keim, owner of stakes winners Indian Maid and Heroshogala, announced at Hialeah today that her trainer, Phil Johnson, no longer is an employee of her stable.

The two parted after an argument over a riding assignment for Indian Maid in Wednesday's $25,000-added Columbiana Handicap. John Sellers, who earlier had agreed to ride Indian Maid, switched assignments and chose to ride Calumet Farm's Prince's Gate in the race.

Mrs. Keim blamed Johnson for not keeping Sellers on Indian Maid.

Johnson, who said he had quit, stated that Mrs. Keim always handled the making of rider assignments on Indian Maid.

Mrs. Keim said that Elmer Heubeck, Jr., would act as temporary replacement for Johnson.

Fairmont Trips Shepherd, 92-73

FAIRMONT, W. Va. (UPI)—Fairmont finished fast Tuesday night to post a 92-73 West Virginia Conference basketball victory over Shepherd.

Shepherd took the lead at 63-62 with 11:42 to play only to have the Falcons go on a rampage and roll up a 29-10 margin in the remaining minutes.

Ron Everhart had 31 points, Flying Wolf 22 and Curtis Guin 17 for Fairmont. Roscoe Dean got 20 and Scott Douglass 15 for Shepherd.

Terps And Sooners To Clash In 1964

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—The University of Maryland will meet Oklahoma on the football field in 1964 and 1967 for the first home-and-home series in the history of the two universities. Announcement of the game was made Tuesday by William W. Cooley, Maryland's athletic director.

The first of a two-game series will be played at Byrd Stadium, College Park, Sept. 19, 1964. Oklahoma will host the Terrapins in a return engagement sometime in 1967, Cooley said.

Although the two universities have never met on the gridiron in a regularly scheduled competition, Maryland lost to the Sooners in two Orange Bowl games. In 1954 Oklahoma defeated Maryland 6-0 and in 1956 the score was 20-6.

The Terrapins were national champions in 1953 and had had an undefeated season in 1955 before bowing to Oklahoma.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Robert Collins of Mississippi State College was named Tuesday backfield coach for George Washington University.

Collins, 28, has been backfield coach for Mississippi for the past three years and was an assistant football coach at Colorado State College.

Servicenter Is Guttled In Area Blaze

Three Companies Fight Fire East Of Grantsville

Three volunteer fire companies, hampered by a lack of water supply, last night fought a stubborn blaze which gutted a service station and damaged an adjoining restaurant at the intersection of U. S. Route 40 and 219 about three miles east of Grantsville.

The fire, which was almost under control by 10:30 p. m., apparently was caused when an oil furnace in the rear of the service station exploded. No one was reported injured.

The blaze broke out about 9:15 p. m., and within minutes volunteer firemen from nearby Grantsville were on the scene. Also summoned were volunteers from Frostburg and Salisbury, Pa.

At least one automobile apparently was destroyed by the blaze, and several other vehicles in the garage at the time of the explosion were moved outside the premises.

The Esso service station and restaurant was recently taken over by Clayton Edwards and formerly was operated by John E. Davies. The building is reportedly owned by Guy Hardesty.

Other Buildings Threatened
Flying sparks carried by high winds threatened nearby buildings. The snow-covered roof of one of the buildings aided in keeping the sparks from setting the building on fire.

The building where the blaze was confined is a one-story concrete block structure. The furnace room and display room of the service station, its roof and the roof of the restaurant were burned by the stubborn blaze.

The restaurant and service station are separated by a concrete wall. Jean Lindeman, who manages her father's Little Meadows Motel nearby, said the roof of the service station and restaurant went up in flames very quickly.

She said there was some sort of explosion about 10 p. m. and the door of the motel office was shaken by the impact.

Water Lacking
Firemen were hampered by a lack of water supply. They reportedly went to a nearby creek, which was ice-covered.

A well in the vicinity of the burning building was operated with an electric pump, but the electricity was reported to have been cut off by the fire.

There was considerable smoke and water damage to the adjoining restaurant, according to one observer, who said the firemen had the flames confined to the service station.

At least five trucks were reported on the scene last night. Two state policemen from the LaVale barracks were sent to the scene to keep traffic moving along the highway.

Five Arrested In Series Of Area Entries

State Police at LaVale apparently have solved a wave of breaking and enterings in the area with the arrest of a young Westernport man and four Westernport teen-agers.

Being held in the County Jail are James A. Myers, 18 Robert M. Trenum, 25; Edward L. Guinn, 17, and Franklin Stowell, also 17.

A 16-year-old youth also was arrested in connection with the case and will be given a hearing in Juvenile Court.

Juvenile Court authorities waived jurisdiction in the case of the two 17-year-old youths and they will be tried later this week in Allegany County Circuit Court with Myers and Trenum.

Tfc. Milton G. Hart and Tfc. Robert C. Dishong made the arrests in the case following their investigation of a series of breaking and enterings in the Westernport section during the past several months. Trooper Bruce E. Diehl also took part in the investigation.

Places which were burglarized included McIntyre's Bakery, Westernport; James Store, Franklin; American Legion, Westernport; Mullen Beer Distributor, Westernport; Piedmont Foundry, Luke, the Miller Grocery truck, Franklin, and the residence of B. L. David in Franklin.

Items which were taken from the various places included beer, whiskey, pies and cakes, meat and cigarettes.

State's Attorney James S. Getty said the youths will be tried in Circuit Court on criminal information before Judge W. Earle Cobey.

Yesterday Judge Cobey appointed Mrs. Ruth D. Forman, Cumberland attorney, to represent the youths.

Veterans Elect Today
The annual election of officers of Cumberland Barracks 1125, Veterans of World War I, will be held during a regular meeting this evening at 8 in the VFW Home on Union Street.

College Expansion - 6 Would Attract More From Outside State

This is the sixth in a series of factual articles about the proposed unification of Frostburg State Teachers College and the University of Maryland. Today's article deals with the opportunity for more out-of-state students to attend the college as a center of the University.

One of the significant recommendations for the expansion of the college at Frostburg as a center of the University of Maryland concerns an increase in the number and percentage of out-of-state students attending the institution of higher learning.

One-Way Plan To Be Asked On Tilghman Street

Route Is Used By School Buses

Police Commissioner Philmore Fleming will ask the Mayor and Council Monday to approve an order which would make Tilghman Street one-way south between School and Cumberland streets.

He said the proposal is being made on the recommendation of Police Chief B. F. Gaffney and the Traffic Bureau of the Police Department.

The plan has been requested by Dr. W. Ardell Haines, principal of Allegany High School, and J. Hubert Radcliffe, supervisor of transportation for the Board of Education.

Cannot Pass
Police Department officials met with Mr. Radcliffe Monday to discuss the situation which has been aggravated by snow and ice.

Mr. Fleming said all of the buses from Allegany High School go down Tilghman Street and are unable to pass other vehicles due to the number of cars students and faculty members park on one side of the street.

He said that if the Mayor and Council goes along, the plan will be placed into effect as soon as weather permits.

The Police Department, he said, has made an investigation and has approved the proposal.

He said the several people who live on the street may be affected to the extent they may have to drive around the block to park, but that the advantages from a safety standpoint will offset the disadvantages.

Wants Trial Periods

Mr. Fleming also reported that before spring arrives, he will ask the Mayor and Council to approve an order which would allow the Police Department to make traffic changes which seem desirable for 30 or 60-day trial periods.

He said such trial periods would give citizens and officials a chance to see how a proposal works out before making a permanent change.

The final decision, he added, could be made both on the basis of need and practicality.

Teachers Hit Tawes' Figures On Pay Raises

Governor Declares James Bill Best

By HERB THOMPSON
ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The Tawes administration Tuesday entered a propaganda battle with Maryland school teachers over whose bills will do the most for Maryland communities.

The governor's office released figures showing that recommendations of the James Committee, endorsed by the governor, will provide local governments with a total of $14,036,514 in new revenue to spend as they see fit.

It was contrasted with a teacher-backed program of $12,481,774 to be spent entirely on salaries, books and school supplies.

A news release to county papers maintained if all the $14,036,514 was spent for school teachers salaries, as would be the case under the Maryland State Teacher Association plan, it would mean an average pay raise of $549 per teacher compared to an average of $417 under the teachers' own plan.

Local Contrasts Cited

These were among the contrasts cited by Tawes:

Allegany County would receive $550,521 under James Committee proposals compared to $397,399 under the teacher-pay bill. Tawes said this amounts to $552 per teacher in Allegany compared to $493 in the M. S. T. A. plan. He said this new aid would be equivalent to 15.4 cents on the local tax rate.

Garrett County would receive $155,819 under James Committee proposals compared to $122,372 under the teacher bill, an average of $829 per teacher compared to $542 under the M. S. T. A. program. Tawes said this new state aid would be equivalent to 38.2 cents on the local tax rate.

Robert Y. Dubel, legislative representative of the teachers, promptly cried "foul."

He said the governor had lumped into the $6.5 million aid-to-education proposals of the James Committee, welfare and correctional aid proposed by that group as well as a separate tobacco tax proposal to raise $5 million more for subdivisions by establishing a statewide tax of 6 cents a pack on cigarettes.

Calls It "Misleading"

"This is completely misleading," said Dubel. "There are three separate bills involved. If he wants to make a fair comparison let him add the $7,608,438 from the cigarette tax and welfare and correctional programs to our program and ours would mean $20 million more to counties instead of the $12,481,774 we are proposing for education."

The total recommendations of the Legislative Council's Committee on Taxation and Fiscal Matters, headed by Sen. William S. James, are to be financed by the tobacco tax and lowering the base of the sales tax to purchases of 25 cents and applying it to restaurant meals, according to the Tawes plan.

Dubel said school and parent-teacher organizations could not support such a tax program unless it would do something specific for education. He said under the proposals as now drawn, counties would not be required to spend any of the $14 million additional aid on schools.

Cattle Meeting Due Tomorrow

Livestock growers and dairy producers of Allegany County have been slow in making reservations for tomorrow's all-day winter meeting at the LaVale Fire Hall, according to County Agent Joseph M. Steger. Speakers during the morning session starting at 9:30 o'clock will be Charles P. Ellington, extension agronomist at the University of Maryland, and Dr. G. W. Green Jr. of the Maryland Livestock Sanitation Service.

After lunch at noon, courtesy of the Cumberland Fair Association, the group will be split into two units. The dairy producers will hear Dr. Robert Schabinger, dairy specialist at the University of Maryland. Speaker at the livestock growers' meeting will be Dr. James R. Ferguson, extension specialist in animal husbandry at the University of Maryland.

Board Position On FSTC New, Gilchrist Says

Urges Affiliation With University

C. William Gilchrist, local attorney, yesterday characterized the proposal to unite Frostburg State Teachers College with the University of Maryland as a "practical and desirable answer" to Western Maryland's higher education needs.

Mr. Gilchrist noted that the State Board of Education in 1957 opposed expansion of the college and recommended that its total effort be concentrated on training teachers. He said the board now "has apparently changed its philosophy."

Mr. Gilchrist is a former president of the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce and of the Maryland State Junior Chamber of Commerce, and has served as vice president of the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce, president of the Allegany County Bar Association and of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce. He also is a former chairman of the Allegany County Welfare Department.

His statement follows: "It was with considerable interest that I read the proposal of the State Superintendent of Schools that a 'high level study' be made of the future of higher education in Maryland."

The principal concern in this area has been with the lack of opportunity for higher education in this part of Maryland. The first group to take an active interest in providing better college facilities here, to offer broader education in the liberal arts and science fields, was the Western Maryland Section of the American Chemical Society, which began an effort in the spring of 1956 to seek a solution to the problem of low educational levels in this area. The local section, under the leadership of Dr. Charles A. Orlick and Albert M. Jacobs, made a survey in which it was noted that the three counties of Western Maryland were far below the state average and the national average in percentage of young persons seeking higher education.

State Road Declined

"Frostburg State Teachers College, with an attractive plant, good faculty and desirable college atmosphere, appeared to this group and the other citizens whom they interested in the work, to be readily capable of expansion to serve young people seeking careers in fields in addition to teaching. A suggestion was made to the State Department of Education that such an expansion program be undertaken. The department did a survey, and made a report in October 1957, recommending that the total effort at Frostburg should be confined to the training of teachers, declining the requested program, and indicating a desire to discontinue the junior college."

Cites Six Surveys

"There have been six surveys or studies made since 1955 on higher education in Maryland, touching on the teachers' colleges in general or on Frostburg in particular. These surveys are: "1. The report of Governor McKeldin's Commission on the Needs of Higher Education in Maryland, published in 1955. "2. # School Building Plan Studied At Annapolis

Commissioners Meet With Legislators

Allegany County legislators and the Board of Allegany County Commissioners met in Annapolis last night to discuss the proposed $5,000,000 school construction program and other school-related issues.

The meeting, slated to begin at 7:30 p.m., was requested by State Senator Charles M. See and the six members of the Allegany County Delegation.

Delegate Fred B. Driscoll, delegation chairman, said the joint meeting was scheduled due to the importance of the building program.

He said county legislators want to get all important legislation out of the way before the present session of the General Assembly is too far advanced.

Want Decision

Legislators, he said, want to come up with a workable plan and are trying to approach the school building program from a constructive point of view.

Del. Driscoll said the legislators recently discussed the building program in detail with Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of schools, and wanted to get the reaction of the county commissioners.

No decision has been made to date as to whether the legislation would be an enabling act or a mandatory measure.

In 1953, the legislators began studying a $6,000,000 school construction proposal and wound up with a $3,500,000 bill which was mandatory as to projects and amounts.

Paving To Be Aired

The second subject set for discussion was action taken by the commissioners on a school playground paving bill passed two years ago.

Del. Driscoll said legislators have been told not much has been done to fulfill the legislative intent and that Senator See and the Delegation want some action, since additional local legislation cannot be passed at next year's session.

The third major subject will be the curriculum for Flintstone and Oldtown high schools, where a survey indicated an interest in commercial subjects.

The Delegation yesterday sent to its third reading HJR 17, which calls for a substantial increase in Interstate Highway mileage and inclusion of Route 40 in Western Maryland in the system.

Civil Service Decision Is Deferred

The Allegany County Civil Service Commission late last night took under advisement the case of Joseph I. O'Rourke, 50-year-old orderly at the County Infirmary who was discharged, effective December 27, after a little more than 11 months of employment there.

W. Eric Gibbs, chairman of the commission, announced at the close of the two-hour hearing last night that the commission would review the record of testimony in the case after it is prepared by Robert B. Thomas, court reporter. The commission then will notify the Board of County Commissioners of the decision on the man's appeal.

Three witnesses were called in behalf of the county by John J. Mathias, acting county solicitor for the case. Earl D. Grim, superintendent of the County Infirmary, submitted a typewritten record which showed that Mr. O'Rourke had missed 28 days of work when he was expected to be on the job. For his failure to report for work he was suspended for 14 days, from November 20 through December 3.

Much of the testimony last night concerned an incident of last September 14 when Mr. Grim instructed Mr. O'Rourke to go home from work. Mr. Grim testified that he was not in shape to carry on his duties, was weaving and staggering and had an odor of alcohol on his breath.

Mrs. Mabel Williams, registered nurse, and Mrs. Regina M. Foreman, practical nurse, who were on duty with Mr. O'Rourke on the morning of September 14, confirmed his observations. Both said that the discharged orderly had been drinking, was staggering but they could not assert that he was intoxicated.

Mr. O'Rourke, called by his attorney, Fred H. Anderson, denied that he was intoxicated on the morning of September 14. He acknowledged that he had drunk about five beers in Leonaconing the night before but was home in bed by 10 p. m.

The discharged orderly said that he regularly called the County Infirmary whenever he was going to be absent but did not always give the infirmary the required four or five hours notice. Last witness was Paul Nolan, Island Street, Lonaconing, who was working at Sylvan Retreat on the morning of September 14. He contended Mr. O'Rourke was not intoxicated when he talked with him about 9 a. m. that day.

Other members of the Civil Service Commission are Charles L. Kopp and Woodward D. Pealer.

University Band Here Tonight

The University of Maryland's Symphonic Band, now on its fourth annual concert tour, will present a free concert in the Allegany High School auditorium at 8 o'clock tonight under the direction of Hugh Henderson, director of bands at College Park. Tomorrow, the band will present three more concerts in Allegany County. They will appear at Fort Hill High School at 9 a. m., at Valley High School at 2 p. m., and finally at Frostburg State Teachers College at 8 p. m. Included on the repertoire list, from which concerts will be selected, are the following titles: Celebration Overture Op. 61, Paul Creston; Chorale and Alleluia, Howard Hanson; Death and Transfiguration (Finale), Richard Strauss; New Lamps For Old (Suite), Gilbert Vinter; March Op. 99, Serge Prokofiev; Coronation Scene (Boris Godunov), Modest Moussorgsky; Polka from "The Golden Age" by Dimitri Shostakovich. A trumpet trio will be featured. Members are William Cox, a junior in music education from Bel Air; Phillip Pfeiffer, a sophomore in music education from Baltimore; and Bruce Nale, also a sophomore in music education from Beltsville.

Soloists will include Richard Mortimer, trumpet, from Clinton; Norman Hogan, clarinet, from Riverdale; and William Cameron, vocal baritone from Landover. The 65 members of the tour band selected from the 144-piece marching band, left the campus yesterday morning chaperoned by Mrs. Margaret Showalter and Miss Anna Urban, faculty members. An estimated 7500 high school students will hear the band perform during a series of nine concerts.

Yesterday's concerts were at Frederick, Middletown and Williamsport high schools. This morning at 9 o'clock the band will play at North Hagerstown High School and at 2 p. m. at Hancock High School.
